Sequoits poms finish strong second at state

Only one judge's score kept poms from becoming state champs

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School Pom Pon Squad came oh so close to bringing home the school's first ever state title.

Only one point separated Antioch from champion

Naperville Central.

"It was one judge's opinion," said Coach Joy Edge.

The Sequoits finished first in their Sectional and topped 95 other squads at the state level.

"They have really improved from a pom pon team to an excellent dance team. To get second in state is just as difficult as it is for basketball," Edge said.

The team, dominated by sophomores, will be mostly intact for the coming year.

There were eight sophomores and only four seniors on this year's squad.

The team placed second in the dance funk category.

This is the second straight year ACHS poms finished in the runner-up position.

Squad member Melissa Hague was selected to teach dance at a summer camp based on her state performance.

Edge noted a strong contingent of residents attended to support their team.

"They did a great job. It was one subjective point from one judge," Edge said of the team's effort.

The squad was honored by the school March 18 for their efforts.

Team members include: Hague, Stephanie Haenchen, Kristy Miedema, Audra Miles, Liz Moyano, Alexis Dayhuff, Sarah Trovillion, Megan Tripp, Shannon Pedersen, Shannah Jaburik, Sarah Pandley, Chanelle Bernt, Samantha Griffin, Nicole Ginascol, Stacy Astar, Stacey Larcom, Korbyn May, Krista Hintz, Kelly Haley, Katie Dalton and Molly Meyer.

Business in the spotlight at Lakes Area Showcase

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

Antioch Chamber of Commerce & Industry officials are poised to spotlight their businesses this weekend.

The first ever Lakes Area Showcase is planned March 22 and 23 at Antioch Community High School. There will be plenty of information booths as well as celebrity guests and health activities.

"A lot of our members wanted something to help promote their businesses to the community," said Dee Dee Palmer, chamber member.

Heading the list of guests is Benny the Bull. Other dignitaries include Ex-Bear Receivers Glenn Kozlowski and Tom Waddle.

Benny the Bull will be on hand 1 p.m. March 22. Kozlowski will be there 10-noon on Sunday, and Waddle will stop by 1-3 p.m. March 23.

Folk singer and children's musician Dan Lemonnier will appear at 1:25 p.m. on Saturday. He will be followed by Antioch Public Library staff with storytelling from 2:30-4 p.m.

This is an excellent opportunity for residents to learn more about area businesses such as: contractors, retailers, banks, insurance, Realtors and hobbies.

So far, 54 businesses have signed up to take part in the event.

Also available is free cholesterol screening 9 a.m.-noon on Saturday and 10 a.m.-1 p.m. on Sunday. Blood pressure and stress testing will be provided during the expo hours.

The show will open 9-5 p.m. Saturday, and 10-4 p.m. Sunday.

OSMOND

Antioch Township Supervisor

"Tim Osmond has demonstrated over and over again that his heart is with the residents of Antioch Township. The countless hours of volunteering in all phases of the community projects only shows that he is the candidate that will spend whatever time is necessary to get the job done because he really cares about people."

STATE SENATOR ADELINE J. GEO-KARIS

"During the past 15 years that I have known Tim Osmond, he has shown compassion for the people of Antioch Township. He is a true friend of the people. I believe the voters will be well served with Tim Osmond as Antioch Township Supervisor."

LAKE COUNTY CORONER BARBARA RICHARDSON

"I have had the pleasure of working with Tim Osmond many times during the last eight years. He always has been professional, prompt and courteous, and has based his decisions on what is best for the residents of Antioch Township."

Supervisor candidates offer different views

Voters to choose between politician Osmond and activist Jonites

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

With the election only two weeks away, the two township supervisor candidates explained how they would like to run the office if elected.

Vying for the post are Township Trustee Timothy Osmond and activist Carole Jonites. At stake is the direction of the township with each candidate having vastly differing agendas.

Both realize the job involves tracking the township funds and making sure bills are paid. However, other than administrative functions, both have different views of how the office should be run.

"I will attempt to solve the needs of residents to the extent we have the authority," Osmond said. "I think we should do what we can to find solutions to problems."

Even if the township doesn't have the authority, they should work with the proper authority to work something out, he added.

"I will go the association and be there to answer questions," Jonites said. "They need somebody who will do this full time to get the job done."

Both candidates explained why they felt they were the best qualified for post.

"I have the qualifications. I have an undergraduate degree in business and 20 years of experience in business. I am experienced as a trustee . . . I have a demonstrated ability to get things done. I am a lifelong resident of the township who understands the history and the process," Osmond said.

"He has been on the board for eight years and has done nothing. I will have a lot of accomplishments. I will be visible and working with the people. People should receive something for their taxes," Jonites said.

Osmond is a two term township trustee. He is the chief of Antioch Rescue Squad and owns Osmond Insurance. He is a member of the Antioch Lions, Rotary and Chamber of Commerce.

Jonites is the president and founder of United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch (UHAA) and Felter's subdivision. She is a member of the Alliance for Better Government, American Association of Retired Persons and was a vocal opponent of a riverboat coming to Antioch Township.

The clash marks a battle between Osmond, a lifelong resident who has worked at both city and township government and with state officials and the Republican leadership and Jonites, an activist who has pushed for more open government, worked towards getting a sewer study and answers for residents.

As for goals and objectives, Osmond favors communicating with residents and meeting their needs while Jonites believes in much the same thing with more specific intentions.

"My number one priority is to educate people on what township government is and where it can be of assistance . . . I want to communicate with residents to work with them and see how we can help them out," Osmond said.

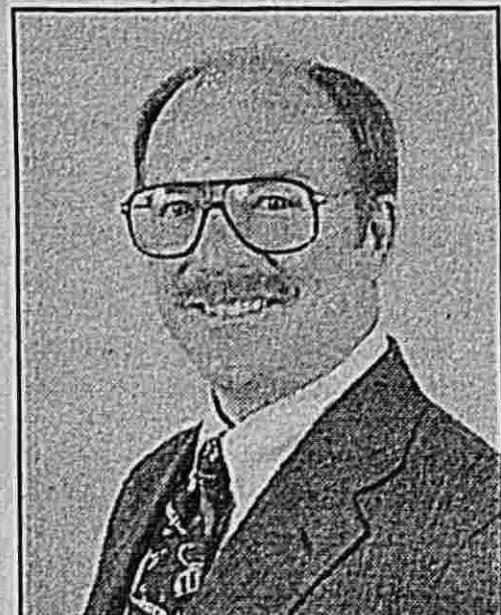

"I will aggressively seek grants. I will listen to the people to see what they want. One of the first things I would support is a township planning commission. We need to plan for the development in unincorporated areas. People should have a say in what is going on in their backyard," Jonites said.

In terms of running the meetings both candidates favor a more open approach than what is currently being followed.

"I will follow Robert's Rules of Order. I will welcome community input. I will not tell the more accurate read on public support of sewers.

Carole Jonites

"The township needs to continue the sewer study. We need to explore all our options and get the county more involved providing their expertise. We need to know both the possible high cost as well as the low cost for sewers," Osmond said.

"I would favor a vote or petition to see what people want. I don't want to see this going through the back door," Jonites said.

Finally, on the issue of pursuing sewers in unincorporated areas Osmond feels that more study is needed while Jonites advocates getting a

Skvarce questions use of township vehicle

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

One Antioch Township trustee pressed for a policy on the use of the township vehicle.

Claudette Skvarce feels a policy is necessary to make sure there is no abuse of the vehicle by any public official. She admitted she didn't even know the truck was in the parking lot until a few months ago.

"We should have a policy in place for the use of the vehicle," Skvarce said.

She added some other townships already have policies. Avon Township has a designated policy for their vehicle and who can use it.

"I think this is something for the new board needs to decide," said Trustee Richard Kufalk, referring to the trustees who will be seated after the April 1 election.

Skvarce also wants to see a line item in the budget detailing the costs of the vehicle. "I want to know what is being spent on the vehicle."

She said there is no line items which differentiate between gas and maintenance work.

"I don't want to see it being driven home," She said.

Skvarce will research other township policies and come back with a recommendation for use.

Parking restrictions may cure Harden Street woes

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

After consulting residents who live on Harden Street, Antioch trustees have decided on a parking policy they hope will curb parking problems for residents.

The board voted unanimously to have the village attorney draw up an ordinance calling for 4-hour parking on Harden from Victoria Street west to Route 173.

Village administrator Tim Wells explained a member of the village staff lives on Harden and interviewed all the affected residents. Of those who responded, the most popular option was a 4-hour parking limit for off street parking.

"Seven of the 11 responding felt there should be some type of restriction," Wells said.

The board had agreed to explore options for this street because it appeared that neither 2-hour or 6-hour parking in the current parking ordinances applied to this situation.

Wells noted residents wanted the 4-hour slot because it gave time for their guests to park.

Because of the proximity of the street to Antioch Community High School, there was starting to be students parking in this area.

Once the ordinance is drawn up, the board will vote to make the decision official.

The board also agreed to post the restriction signs at intersections and not near a residence.

Fatality spurs wish for berm

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

The "S" curve which is just east of Route 45 on Washington St. claimed another life when the vehicle a Fox Lake man was driving crossed over the center line on March 14.

James H. Wiggington, age 43, was pronounced dead at the scene by Lake County coroner's office. His 1986 Buick Skylark crossed the center line and side swiped a 1990 Buick Sedan driven by Linda Buchanan of Gurnee. The 1986 Buick continued in the east bound lanes until it hit a 1994 Chevrolet Van driven by Jeani T. Budd of Antioch.

Washington Street was closed from 11:15 a.m. to 3 p.m. "We wanted to collect all the evidence from the scene and do diagrams. It took a long time to extricate the deceased individual," Hank Schwarz, Gurnee police deputy chief, said.

The other drivers were transported to St. Therese Medical Center with minor injuries. A 4-year old passenger of the van was wearing a safety seat and belted in. The driver of the van was wearing a seat belt and airbags were deployed.

"I presume wearing the seat belts contributed to their surviving the accident," Schwarz said.

The sound of metal hitting metal with a fatality involved is unfortunately not new to nearby Ravinia Woods residents such as Cindy Camp.

"All the studies do not do anything for the condition in my backyard. The homeowners association met last summer and were told the re straightening of the road and a berm would take place this spring. Nothing has been done so far," she said.

A berm would cost an estimated $370,000 and Lake County would have to allocate funds as well, according to Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton.

"A berm would not have prevented the accident, but it would have kept people from going off the road," Welton said.

Welton said there have been several meetings about the topic and Gurnee hired a consulting engineer to study it.

Second-grader carries 2 guns

Woodland student suspended, mother charged with no firearm owners card

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Woodland Dist. 50 officials are stressing gun safety lessons after a second-grade student attempted to bring two guns to school for "show and tell."

"The social workers and the teachers talked about the importance of gun safety to every class," Mary Jo Przygoda, district spokesperson, said.

A Park City mother has been charged with possessing a firearm without an owners card while her 7-year-old daughter was suspended when she arrived at school on March 13.

The girl was seen with a 9 mm. semiautomatic pistol at the bus stop. Another student noticed this and the bus driver was notified and in turn the Park City police department. The gun was taken away and the girl was sent to school. Once on the bus, the bus driver took away a second gun, a .380 semiautomatic pistol. Both guns were in her backpack and both were unloaded. Ammunition was found in the home, according to Park City police.

School officials report hundreds of phone calls regarding the matter to the district office.

"The child was aware of where the guns were in the home. They were in a box and the magazine and the ammunition were in a drawer," Park City Det. Mike Marsailles said. "The girl did not realize the seriousness of the matter, but does now."

Park City Chief Mike Luff said this was the first time in 22 years that someone of that age had gotten a hold of a gun. "The key is education. You remove the curiosity when you inform them," he said.

Woodland Superintendent Dr. Dennis Conti sent a letter home to parents.

"This could have resulted in a serious incident. We do not take this matter lightly; according to school policy, she has been suspended and has been turned over to juvenile authorities, along with her parents," said the letter.

"It is our goal to keep our children safe at all times when they are in our care. Please encourage your child to tell an adult when they witness anything they find unusual or uncomfortable. Had it not been for a child telling the driver about the gun, something much more serious might have occurred," said Conti.

The parents were also advised of the Gages Lake's district's "zero tolerance" policy regarding weapons, Przygoda said.

"Students found to be in violation of this policy will be disciplined by the administration on an individual basis. Disciplinary measures may include counseling, withholding of privileges, and/or suspension or expulsion," the policy states.

It wasn't a normal day at the office

There is a guy who has lived in Antioch all his life. He's a decent fellow, a good husband, a wonderful father and a great provider. He celebrated his birthday this month, a birthday that almost didn't take place. He was someone who just happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time recently, and although he came away from the experience with his hair in tact and his underwear in a wearable condition, his priorities in life have definitely become a little rearranged.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

LYNN

395-6364

He was on a business trip in New Orleans and just happened to be standing at the direct point of impact when that barge lost power and rammed into that riverfront mall just before Christmas.

The impact was jolting to say the least and the scene that followed was total pandemonium.

This native Antiochian, along with a whole crowd of other people literally ran for their lives through shattering glass, falling drywall, dangling light fixtures and the overpowering smell of natural gas.

In all the chaos, a little 5-year-old boy became separated from his parents and was left laying on the floor in danger of being trampled by the panicking crowd. As the young businessman ran closer to the crying child, he scooped the boy up and reminiscent of his football days at ACHS, he tucked the little guy under his arm like a football. Surprisingly, the down escalator was still operating and with some sure-footed running, the man and his closely guarded cargo, managed to ascend the descending stairs to reach the safety of the outside world.

The orphaned child was handed off to a bewildered police officer who was standing in the midst of the whole chaotic scene as people were scrambling for the light of day. Choking on dust and smoke and fumes, this newly sung hero gathered some semblance of his being and frame of mind, took gulping breaths of fresh air, surveyed the damage and realized what a risk of his own life it would be to return into the broken building to help evacuate any poor souls who might still be inside, disoriented or injured. Shaken beyond belief, he returned to his hotel and placed a call to his wife back in Antioch. After relaying his ordeal and reliving his nightmare, he was comforted somewhat by the fact that all was intact on the homefront. He expressed his guilt in not returning into the splintered building to help more victims. His wife, knowing the decent human being she had married, was taken back a bit by his guilt and informed him that she would have killed him had he been killed re-entering the crumbling structure—we assume it was the adrenaline talking on her part.

The next day the husband returned home to his family and nestled the event within his long term memory. His only real profound statement about the whole ordeal was how he had always thought if ever faced with such a life and death situation, he was convinced his underwear would not have been left in a condition that would have made his mother very happy.

It's things like this that make one sit back, ponder the path their life is taking, then regroup and hopefully walk a straighter, more purposeful life. A friend who lost a husband, after only being married a short amount of time was left alone, with two small children but with a positive attitude on life. Her husband had kissed her good-bye that last morning and has had no regrets when it came time to bury him.

How many of us can sit back and say that for ourselves. Life is too short, no matter how long the big guy upstairs lets us meander around down here. Life is too short to forget who and what is really important. We should all take a minute to look deep within ourselves and decipher between the fluff that is just waiting to blow away and land somewhere else when we are gone and the stuff cherished memories are made of.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"—don't forget to call 395-6364.

Lay ministry helps people in crisis

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Those who have had a rough hand dealt them in life now have someone they can turn to for emotional and spiritual support.

The Stephen Ministers are out in the community healing the wounds of those in crisis. The 11 dedicated volunteers currently provide support to 19 residents, according to Stephen's Minister Betty Roberts.

"We are there to provide spiritual and emotional support," Roberts said.

She added some types of crises may be loss of a loved one, a divorce, difficulty in handling a job loss and teenage drug or alcohol use.

"They feel it's helpful to them," Roberts said of the people who receive the support.

The program is sponsored by the Antioch United Methodist Church. It is for all members of the community who feel they need the assistance. This is the program's second year.

The one thing Stephen Ministers are not is therapists. They are not professional counselors, they are people who are there to lend moral and emotional support.

Stephen Ministers only visit with people who request the service.

The program is applied nationally and used by several different denominations. It takes at least 50 hours of training to be certified.

As for what it feels like to be a Stephen Minister, Roberts said she now feels a deeper commitment to the community after being involved with the program.

"We have grown spiritually. We have a deeper commitment to the community in general," Roberts.

Roberts closed by mentioned the program gets back to a Christian philosophy of helping those in need.

"It is a way we bring Christ into our community," Roberts said.

Library plans herb gardening program

In April, the library will be hosting a speaker on the topic of herb gardening and in May, an antiques appraiser will be speaking.

On Monday, April 14 at 7 p.m., Sharon Yiesla, horticulturist for the Lake County Cooperative Extension will be presenting a talk and slide show on herb gardening. The focus will be on herbs that thrive in Northern Illinois how to grow, harvest and use these herbs. This presentation will be aimed at those who are new to herb gardening.

On Thursday, May 22 at 7 p.m. Frank Frye will be coming to the library to give a presentation on antiques and antique appraisal. As part of his presentation he will be offering his opinion on the value of items that attendants bring in. In order that everyone might get the most out of this program, attendants are asked to bring only one item for appraisal. Mr. Frye specializes in glassware and china, but unfortunately does not appraise paintings or jewelry. Come find out about that treasure in your attic.

All programs meet in the Antioch Public Library meeting room and are free. Call the library at 395-0874 to sign up.

RAYMOND R. McCASKEY, PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

No one in our business offers employers and their people more options - more networks and managed care plans - to choose from. And our first priority is quality. So Blue Cross gives you easier access to more of the finest doctors and hospitals in Illinois.

And we don't stop there. Now we're setting up even smarter networks. Including a new choice in our HMOs. All in order to broaden our ability to bring you benefits and costs that work, not only in theory, but in practice. So you can expect that the promises we make about performance will be kept. Right from day one.

Is there anybody else out there who can lay claim to being the best managed care company in Illinois? I don't believe so. But I know there will be challengers. We'll just stay on the track we've established and let the market be the judge."

Power lines irk Old Mill Creek

Officials say overhead lines don't fit country setting, go against comprehensive plan

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

Commonwealth Edison and the county have a little matter to clear up with the residents of Old Mill Creek after the utility company erected overhead power lines along Hunt Club Road to service the county's new sewer plant, currently under construction in the village.

The overhead power lines aren't in sync with the village's comprehensive plan which calls for all lines to be underground. A representative of the utility company, Joe Trexler, was present at the March village board meeting to speak about the matter.

"Anything in the village we'll follow... As I said we're an overhead company and if it is underground someone has to pay," he told the board.

The village is writing to the county to notify them the lines were installed without deference to their plan. Apparently the utility company needs a permit to erect the lines and there was a question as to whether they were notified of the underground stipulation before the lines went up.

Village President Paul Koppen explained Hunt Club Road is a county road and even though the county has a right of way along it, they are required to be in compliance with Old Mill Creek's plan.

"The county didn't write to them to tell them to recognize our plan... so there will be a correction," said Koppen.

Koppen said the county will have to underwrite the costs of burying the lines.

"The developer, whoever it is, has to underwrite the costs... The county will be informed of the non-conforming lines and they will have to inform Com Ed," he explained.

Wise use of credit topic of workshops

In the continuing lunch-and-learn series, the Cooperative Extension Service (CES) will conduct two programs for employees working in the downtown Waukegan area. On Friday, April 4, "Choose and Use Credit Cards Wisely" will be presented in the 10th floor Assembly Room at the Lake County Building. On Friday, May 2, "Take Charge of Your Credit" will be presented. Both workshops will be held from 11:30 to 12:15 p.m. and repeated each day from 12:30 to 1:15 p.m. There are no fees for these workshops. Barbara Dahl, Consumer and Family Economics Educator with the Cooperative Extension Service will present the programs.

CES is the outreach arm of the University of Illinois. "Our mission is to provide practical and useful information that is research-based" said Jim Betustak, Extension Unit Leader for Lake County. "We hope that these brief workshops are an efficient and effective means for citizens to get information" Betustak added. For additional information or to pre-register, call 223-8627.

Plan would transform USA Waste garbage into energy

Profits may build sports complex

ELIZABETH EAKEN
Staff Reporter

An energy conversion plant, which would be the first of its kind for Lake County, is likely on its way.

The proposed cogeneration facility, to be built across from the USA Waste Countryside Landfill on the west side of Route 83, would convert gas generated by the landfill into energy which would be sold to ComEd.

The plant received favorable rezoning recommendations from the village plats and subs committee. The land, which is completely surrounded by Grayslake, needs to be annexed into the village. The board is expected to vote on the final zoning recommendation, April 1. It's likely approval, will allow the developers to move ahead with their in-depth plans for the site.

The plant is being developed cooperatively by USA Waste Services, Inc., Miss Mimi Corporation, which is the property holder, and Yankee Energy Services Company (YESCo) of Connecticut which will operate the plant.

It is located on 2 acres within the center of a large parcel of land owned by Miss Mimi, totaling around 140 acres. The village is currently negotiating an agreement with the parties involved to build a sports complex on the Miss Mimi property also.

Village Manager Mike Ellis said the specifics are still undefined at this point. A possible use of the center has been proposed as an ice rink. The power for the center would be supplied by the cogenerator plant giving a slight economic benefit.

The gas being converted at the plant would be drawn from the landfill through a pipe system which would run under the road to the conversion plant. According to Tom Skinner, the attorney representing USA Waste and Miss Mimi, the gas being converted would result in a lower emissions rate than required by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency for consideration as a "Minor Source" for air pollution.

The plant is expected to produce 10,000 megahertz of electricity per day which is enough to serve 8,000 to 10,000 residences per day. Annual revenue for the plant is expected to be around $5 million per year. The developers are expected to have figures on the economic benefits to the village at the April board meeting.

"The benefits of the project to the village potentially are the Miss Mimi resources that will be dedicated to a fund, to allow the construction of a sports complex," Skinner emphasized after the meeting.

The time line for the sports complex construction is very vague. Skinner said it depends on how quickly the royalties to Miss Mimi from YesCo accrue from the plant. He noted this could be anywhere from two to six years.

incident was March 12 at 7:45 a.m. at Highwoods Drive and Oak Avenue in the Petite Highwoods subdivision.

In all three instances, the suspect did not pursue the children when they didn't show interest or ran away.

The Sheriff's Department has stepped up patrols of various types in Lake Villa Township and working with witnesses to establish a composite sketch of the offender. They are working with Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst police departments.

Grass Lake School District followed the lead of other school districts and decided to print

They have warned children to: Never approach a stranger in or out of a car, stay together with other children at bus stops, get off at your regular stop, do not get into a strange car even if offered candy and tell parents if they see anything strange or if someone approached them.

None of the incidents have taken place on any school property. Police continue to search for the suspect and would appreciate any information that might aid the investigation. People with information are urged to call the Sheriff's Department or their local police department.

Wilmot opens season April 26

The Official 1997 racing schedule for the Wilmot Speedway was released by Premier Racing Productions (PRP). The Wisconsin home of sprint car racing season opener will be on April 26 with racing scheduled for four Sunday's, one Friday, one Thursday and every Saturday through Sept. 13. Included in the 1997 schedule are Sprint cars, IMCA Modifieds, Mini-Sprints, Mini-Mods and six appearances by the MRA Modifieds.

Highlights of the years events at the speedway include the Wilmot Open Sprints on Saturday, Aug. 16. For the second year in a row the Open Sprint show will be run during the County fair with the IMCA Modifieds also on the program this year. The IRA returns to the speedway in 1997 and will compete against the Wilmot Star Trac Sprints for the King of Wisconsin title. The two show King Series will be on Saturday, June 21 and Thursday, Aug. 7. Memorial Day and Independence Day week-ends will feature two days of racing action. The schedule reflects a continuation of the PRP commitment to excellence by bringing the best racing in the Midwest to the speedway every week.

Sprint car racing is the number one class in America and the Wilmot Speedway, with a 37 car average per night, was the number one track in America in 1996 based on average Sprint car count per night. In a change from previous years, the Saturday night program will feature three car classes. This change will mean families can come out to the track, see great entertainment, mingle with the race car drivers after the races and still get home at a reasonable hour. The great thing about auto racing is the closeness between the drivers and the fans. Unlike other sports, race car drivers love to sign autographs and talk with the people and the change to three classes a night will give the fans the time to get to know their favorites and maybe find new ones.

The Wilmot Speedway is now on the world wide web, at www.racingonline.com/wilmot. On line information 24 hours has further details on the goings on at the track; call 838-RACE.

ACHS refurbished courts a source of pride

Fix it and they will come.

Antioch High's refurbished tennis courts may be one of the reasons 26 players are on the varsity squad.

"It really has been a sense of pride. Players enjoy playing on them instead of the old courts. You don't have to worry about bad bounces," ACHS coach Bryan Plinske said.

The second-year mentor described his team as an experienced one.

Three singles players lead the way for returnees. They are seniors Steve Hovey, Chris Phillips and sophomore J.J. Edwards.

"Phillips is a net player who gained experience at doubles last year and has gained a lot of strength. Hovey is an all-around player who uses his height to his advantage. J.R. can hustle all along the court," Plinske said.

Eric Lipps and Kevin Chudd lead the returning doubles players.

'It really has been a sense of pride. Players enjoy playing on them instead of the old courts. You don't have to worry about bad bounces.'

*Bryan Plinske
ACHS tennis coach*

"We have high expectations for a good squad this year. We want to improve on our record from last year (5-8) and have fun and help make better tennis players," Plinske said.

ACHS has a full schedule of matches and has a first in a home invitational tourney. The season opener is April 3 against Grayslake on the new-look courts.

Returning players include: Sebastian Andino, Brett Cromeans, Andrew Dohrmann, Steve Drengler, Matt Harvala, Jeremy Jones, Gary Kidrick, Scott Klinesmith, Chris McNamara, Brandon Polheber and Kevin Ward.

Palinske is a Crystal Lake Central and McHenry County College grad. He coached the Sequoits girls team last fall.

Mike Regnier is the junior varsity coach.

Antioch High school Cheerleaders gain experience in first trip to state competition

On March 14 and 15, the Freshman, Sophomore and Varsity Cheerleaders of Antioch Community High School participated in the Illinois State Championship held at Illinois State University. Each squad has spent many months in preparing through strenuous practices and mental and physical conditioning in order to show their top performance at State.

This is the first year in Antioch Community High School's history that all three squads have qualified and competed at the state level. On Friday, the freshman, coached by Kenneth Williams, placed 18th and the Sophomores coached by Robin Gwinn placed 16th in the JV Division. On Saturday, the Varsity coached by Bill Goetzelman placed 21st in the Varsity division. Congratulations to all of the cheerleaders and coaches—the best of the best.

There will be Cheerleading try-outs for all three levels held at ACHS on May 12, 13 and 15. Information packets will be

Nichols, Wessel, Thomas join Streamliners squad

North American Youth Basketball's summer traveling team will have a definite Lake County influence to it.

The Streamliners include Kristy Nichols and Jackie Ocalon of Round Lake, Jenny Wessel of Grayslake and Tricia Thomas of Libertyville.

"The neat thing is a lot of area coaches have seen what we are trying to do with Round Lake and know this would be a good experience for their kids," John DeBeck, coach of the NAYB Streamliners, said.

DeBeck has stressed fundamentals in his first year after taking over the Round Lake girls program.

The Wisconsin Streamliners will play 100 games from the end of March to the end of July.

Nichols was a unanimous Northwest Suburban Conference all-league selection as a 5-foot, 9-inch junior forward.

"We are extremely excited to have Kristy and Jackie join our team. From the selfish standpoint, their participation with us this summer is certainly going to help us make Round Lake a team to be reckoned with next year, with the competition we face," DeBeck said.

Jenny Wessel, a 6-2 center from Grayslake, is also on the team.

"The first thing she needs is strength. The first practice, she worked out for 45 minutes in the weight room and said that was the most she has ever lifted weights. Taller girls get the rebounds, but we emphasize proper blocking out techniques," DeBeck said.

Also on the team is sophomore Karen Fricke from Stevenson.

DeBeck is proud of the fact the NAYB program has helped players gain 60 college scholarships.

"What is important is the amount of college coaches who will see them play. Until we turn the program around at Round Lake, teams like the Streamliners will be valuable for our better players so they get the exposure they need and can secure the college scholarships that both of these girls desire," he said.

Desire is a key element in the Streamliners' story. Last year, the team had a 91-11 record and included wins over NCAA Division III schools the University of Dubuque and the University of Michigan-Dearborn, and won the NAYB national championship for the fifth straight year.

Also signed on for the Streamliners are: 5-11 sophomore Stephanie Vaitonis from Carmel and twin sisters Kathy and Kristal Coleman of North Chicago and 5-2 Thomas, a Libertyville sophomore.

Round Lake will be host to one of the many tournaments, the Under 19 World Championships. The dates are set: July 22-27 at Round Lake High.

Warren's dreams swatted away

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

It could have been a story-book ending.

Chuck Breuscher drives the lane for the winning shot, sending Warren High to the sectional final against mighty Deerfield. After overcoming fouls and the shot-blocking talents of Lake Forest's Swat Team, Warren gains another shot at the Sweet Sixteen and Breuscher is carried off the court by a group of happy Super Fans...

But this night, the Swat Team led by center Tyler Smith's nine, count 'em, nine blocked shots won out in a 67-63 overtime struggle. Smith finished with 17 points and got just enough help from his teammates to the Scouts the bid for the Waukegan sectional clash against Deerfield.

The final shot by Warren was the Blue Devils' last realistic chance to win the game, as Lake Forest dominated the extra session.

"We were pretty short-handed. With the foul situation being what it was, we were not able to have the players out there we wanted to," Warren coach Chuck Ramsey said.

Smith forced the overtime

How short-handed? Warren only had four players on the floor in the final seconds. Breuscher had been called for a technical foul for reaching across the lane for a Scouts in-bounds pass. Warren was not allowed to substitute with a second to go.

Luke Moo had exited the game with fouls before the overtime and Mike Ryan had done the same. That left Warren with the will to compete but not the natural ability third-seed Lake Forest had.

Breuscher led the Warren attack with 13 points an on equal array of penetrating moves and three-pointers.

But a 24-8 disadvantage in free-throws did not help the 21-7 Blue Devils.

"It was a game of spurts," Ramsey said.

Smith fell behind 2-0 in his block shot day, but that did not bother him. "Ryan blocked my first two shots, but that did not intimidate me," he said.

"The second half of the game we were determined to go inside. Tyler wanted to win and we wanted to defend the arc and stop the penetration," Lake Forest coach Bill Donlon said.

Smith forced the overtime with two free throws and a 58-58 tie with :38 left in regulation.

Warren steadily worked the ball around to the play, which was expected to be screens set for 12-points James Williams.

White, who brings energy and heart to the floor (and a timely three-pointer) had three points in the overtime, but Smith connected on consecutive trips for a four-point lead.

Warren gained and lost an eight-point lead, thanks to the Scout's perimeter shooting.

"We were not able to be consistent in any way," Ramsey lamented.

Warren rallied from a seven-point deficit as Moo re-entered the game with just over four minutes to go. He scored a key basket off a pass from Darnell Smith (12 points, 7 in the second half and overtime).

But Moo could not rescue the Blue Devils this Wednesday night.

"We pulled together pretty well. I hope the kids formed life-time friendships and the seniors enjoyed their time here. We are a fairly close-knit group," Ramsey said following the final post-game gathering at the WTHS gym.

Eckenstahler leads CLC hit parade

College of Lake County headed south for its spring break trip to Florida off a doubleheader sweep of Waukesha.

The bats came alive in a 14-hit attack in game one, a 9-1 win. CLC won the nightcap 5-0 on six hits.

"That was our most hits of the season. We had some difficulty on offense, being a hit or two away," CLC coach Gene Hanson said.

Antioch grad Kevin Eckenstahler continues to be among the top three hitters. He has 9 RBIs, 4 doubles and a .571 average as CLC is 4-4 after eight games.

Bob Hlousek, the second baseman, is at .440 with a home run and two doubles.

Warren High grad Cory Clark is hitting at a .364 clip with 8 hits and 7 RBIs.

George Valko started and gained the win in the first game. Dave Griffin gained the win in the second game against Waukesha.

Greet spring with a smile

With exercise and diet, one month can make a difference

Michael Vucic and Eric Tepper keep club members' motivation going with plenty of fitness advice, encouragement and a great big smile.—Photos by Sandy Bressner

It's spring! Already? How can that be? That New Year's resolution I promised myself (really, I'll start on Monday) to lose weight and begin an exercise program, hasn't begun yet! Yipes! It's already time to pack away all those over-sized sweaters that are so roomy and warm, and pull out those short-sleeved shirts and blouses. What do you mean I have to tuck them in too? What is a girl to do?

ROSELLE LOVE Special Sections Editor

Travel back a month with me as Bally Total Fitness in Vernon Hills came to my rescue. Bally's put a carrot (no, not a chocolate chip cookie) in front of my nose and offered me a challenge. "Give us one month, and we'll set you on the right road to total fitness."

I entered Bally Total Fitness, located on Rte. 60 in Vernon Hills, with the thought of finding "just another health club." But behold! Eric Tepper, acting general manager, greeted me with a smile and the assurance that "this won't hurt a bit!" (Yeah, right!)

Tepper, 25, is a graduate of Northern Illinois University earning a bachelor of fine arts degree. He had his sight set on becoming an actor. While performing in Chicago in the popular "Tony and Tina's Wedding" play each night, Tepper had his days free to do as he pleased. His personal goal to keep in shape brought him to Bally Total Fitness in downtown Chicago nearly every day. Now eight months later, his acting career on hold, he is acting manager for Bally Total Fitness in Vernon Hills. "I love working out. I've been doing it since my parents bought my first set of free weights when I was 12 years old."

Tepper graciously gave me a brief interview to find out what my goals were, how familiar I was with the health club routine, any health problems, and the most important question, how serious I was to get back into shape. When I saw him bring out the tape measure, I began to have some doubts if I could do this.

The next step was a tour of the fitness club where each machine was explained in detail along with a quick demonstration.

Bally Total Fitness offers a wide variety of Nautilus machines, a free weight room, treadmills, stair steppers, stationary bicycles, aerobic classes, swimming pool, a spa, and more. Still skeptical, I asked him how long a "somewhat beginner" would take to see some results. (I mean spring was only 30 days away). Tepper assured me that starting a new routine of working out just three days a week for one hour, including cardiovascular exercise, and depending on how serious I was, I could see results in about a month. (Alright! Let's get started, time is running out).

"People just starting a new exercise program should go slow, but they want to see results quickly. They come to the club the first few times and may not be using the exercise equipment properly and leave with sore muscles. Soon they begin to make excuses to not come back for a day or so and before you know it, a week has passed by and it's really hard to start all over again," claimed Tepper.

"You have to keep your motivation going," stated Tepper. "Don't do the same routine each time you come to the fitness club. Take one day to work on the upper part of your body and the next visit, work on the lower part of your body. But always remember to do the cardiovascular exercises. Ride the bikes, treadmills, stair steppers, or just walk around the indoor track. In a few months you'll see the pounds slide off your body."

At Bally Total Fitness I found a variety of people, all ages, shapes and sizes. No fancy, name brand work-out outfits will keep you away! Just grab a pair of spandex, sweats and a T-shirt and I knew I could blend right in.

To make exercising fun and easy Bally Total Fitness offers the Life Circuit machines. These computerized exercise machines, comparable to the Nautilus equipment, are easy to follow and use. Just program in the amount of weight you intend to press or pull and the machine practically does the work for you. (It seems you just can't get away from computers)! The Life Circuit machines will even let you know if you're going too fast, too slow and even beeps if you missed a step! OK, I was convinced and ready to shed those pounds.

There is a positive atmosphere all around Bally. Everyone in the fitness club is here for the same reason, to stay healthy and keep fit. "I like to tell new clients to stay away from the scale at first. Sometimes those pounds have a way of staying on, but you are losing fat when you work out, and soon you'll notice it in how your clothes begin to feel looser."

That's a great motivator to keep coming back to the club. I feel good when people made their personal goal and come by to tell me how great they feel," Tepper stated.

Michael Vucic, 24, is the operations manager for Bally Total Fitness. Vucic is there to make sure you keep on your exercise routine. Vucic, a graduate of Illinois State University, earned a bachelor of science degree and had visions of becoming an elementary school teacher. But eight months ago Bally made him an offer he couldn't refuse. "Working at Bally's is like Keeping true to her promise, of trying all the Nautilus machines out, Roselle Love gives the pull-down a go.

Exercise and keeping fit is made easier for everyone as Eric Tepper demonstrates Life Circuit computerized machines.

Cruising Can Be A Family Affair

by JIM WARNEK, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

My memories of childhood vacations include our happy family of five piling into the Ford station wagon for a week of fun, excitement, and lots of compromises.

First, we all had to agree on where we were going to stop for lunch. Then, there was the debate as to which restaurant we would have dinner. By the time we were ready to stop for the night, the choice of motels became an all out war!

This need to compromise carried on through to all activities and sightseeing during the entire trip.

Not having to compromise may be one of the most attractive features of family cruising.

Today's modern superliners offer almost constant activities for all ages. All members of the family can do their own thing.

Dad and the boys may want to try trap shooting, or maybe practice their golf drive. Mom can try her luck at bingo, or maybe the slots in the casino if she feels really lucky. The girls can either head for the disco, or maybe an aerobics class or how about just lying around the pool and looking at all the cute guys.

If the kids don't want to eat with the adults, there's usually a pizza parlor or hamburger stand on the ship.

Even the youngest members of the family are not left out with their own kiddie pool, and youth counselors to help them with arts and crafts.

The cost of taking a family on a cruise may be less than you think, since regardless of which size cabin you choose, the third, fourth and fifth passengers pay the same low "extra person in cabin" rate. This puts the per person cost of even a suite within the range of many family budgets.

When you consider the cost of gas, food, entertainment, lodging, etc., you may just find a family cruise costing less than a trip to the Dells, and with a lot less family compromises!

Volo Bogtrotters bring old time sound to Adler

The Chicago-area's foremost old time string band, the Volo Bogtrotters have been aptly described as having "one foot in the '20s and the other foot in the '90s." Critics have variously labeled them "the Hootie and the Blowfish of folk dance music" and "the Grateful Dead of old time music" because of their popularity and loyal following. On Saturday, March 22, they will be making a return appearance to Libertyville's Adler House for an 8 p.m. concert. The David Adler Cultural Center is located at 1700 N. Milwaukee Ave.

For over 10 years, this five-man band has delighted audiences and dancers with a mix of humorous and poignant old time songs along with rare and archaic traditional tunes.

The full, driving Bogtrotter sound is most often achieved with twin fiddles, clawhammer banjo, guitar, and string bass; played respectively by Lynn "Chips" Smith, Fred Campeau, Steve Rosen, Paul Tyler and Tony Scarambolo. On occasion, the instrumental mix swells to include banjo, uke, harmonica, slide guitar, mandolin, mandocello, mandola, banjo-mandolin and tipple as well. Seating is limited. Allen could improve on 'Jungle'

For a long time it seemed that everything comedian Tim Allen touched turned into entertainment gold. He reached industry pinnacles with a top TV show, best-selling book, and a blockbuster movie in "The Santa Claus," all going for him at the same time.

Well the Tool Man still has a big time television series, but his latest foray into filmdom in Disney's "Jungle 2 Jungle" falls short of the success Allen has become accustomed to.

There's a lot of talent at work here, but a mediocre comedy is the result at best. A very young audience will probably laugh a lot at the antics of Allen and Martin Short, but we found the comedy to be a little too silly and forgot to laugh a lot.

Allen plays a successful Wall Street mogul who is told by his ex JoBeth Williams of the heretofore unknown existence of his teenage son who has been raised by Venezuelan Indians in a South American jungle.

The fun is supposed to come when Allen journeys up the

Sam Huntington and Tim Allen

Amazon River and brings his son, played by new teenage heartthrob Sam Huntington, back from the tropic jungle to the jungle of New York.

It seems director John Pasquin lost control somewhere as the film becomes a background for the slapstick antics of Allen and Short, who plays his business partner, Lolita Davidovich is a lovely, but useless girlfriend who tries to help with the kid. Huntington is a bland transplant.

This is a remake of a French film that shouldn't have been remade.

We give this 'G' rated movie 2.5 out of five stars. Wait for the video! —by GLORIA DAVIS

Home sellers should beautify landscape

With the demise of winter brings spring, one of my favorite seasons! Need I say why? Trees are starting to bud, the perennial lawn is greening up, daffodils and tulips are poking their heads above ground. My Leucojum (commonly known as snowdrops bulb) have been blooming for two weeks now. I'm itching to don the work gloves and get out in the dirt!

This season heralds change and perhaps one of those changes may be the sale of your home. Perhaps you need more room (bigger garden, maybe?) or to downsize. Whatever the reason this is a prime time to put your home on the market. So, how can you make it more appealing?

We Realtors (yes, besides gardening, I am a Realtor with Century 21 in Antioch) have a phrase called "curb appeal." You want your home to attract the attention of buyers.

First of all, as soon as the weather permits rake up your front and back lawn. A lot of debris accumulates over the winter. When time is right, start to remove mulches around your perennials. Prune trees and shrubs. And by all means spruce up your landscape with flowers.

In early May you can put up

Gardener's Journal

by Lydia Huff

geraniums, impatiens, petunias, begonias, even marigolds and salvia. Most annuals will do just as well planted in containers as they would in ground. There are a few advantages of putting them in containers. You can place them in strategic spots around your home (remember "curb appeal"). A grouping of potted plants around the front door has a soothing effect and don't forget to hang planters whenever possible. Also, when you move, you can take them with to enjoy in your new surroundings.

If you are not up to a full scale vegetable garden this year because of your anticipated move, plant a small version in containers. Just be sure your containers are large enough to accommodate the root systems of the plant. Tomatoes, peppers, lettuce and herbs do real well in containers.

Remember, you can beautify your home with plants inside as well. If your plants don't look great, add some silks for a lovely effect. A bouquet of cut flowers is a lovely accent placed in strategic spots throughout your home.

Say it with flowers! Many perennials can be moved to your new location. The best time to move them is in the spring and fall. Just as you would normally divide them, making sure you dig deep enough not to damage roots and voila! You then have the beginning of a garden. When I moved from the city I brought many of my roses with me, and some of my favorite perennials.

Good luck! I hope these tips are helpful, even if you plan on staying in your home. Here's hoping your dreams come true. Peace.

I'm no longer queen of the hill

After six months of having strangers (some stranger than others) invade my house and peek in my closets, I am happy to report that we finally found a serious buyer that had (1) enough money and (2) did not complain about the fact that our house is built on a hill.

These two items turned out to be very important for our house sale, as you will see in a moment.

Let's begin with the "money" issue.

Money is definitely the key when it comes to "serious" home buyers. At least if you want to make a profit. Of course, not all buyers are serious.

Some are just kidding, or "browsing" as they like to call it. These are the folks who are looking for a way to kill a Sunday afternoon, or perhaps to get some decorating ideas (of course, once they saw my house, they decided to try a magazine instead). And while these folks may have considered "browsing" a fun way to spend the afternoon, they have no idea what I went through just to provide them with some Sunday entertainment.

Because, naturally, they never let on to you (or the agent who brought them) that they're "browsing." Which means we had to assume they were "serious." And, depending on the notice we were given (about two hours, in most cases), this usually included my hanging up the phone and behaving in a manner that my husband and children lovingly call "flipping out."

"Flipping out" means running from room to room, trying to clean everything at once, while your family follows behind you like an army of Forrest Gumps, asking, "What do you want us to do?" Next, you tell them exactly what ing water.)

The real estate listing for the house even said "custom home on a hill." Tell me — am I missing something, or is that pretty clear? I guess I should have added "where the land is not flat."

This "hill" complaint was nearly as funny as when people would look at our house, and then say the house was too far from their job. What does this mean? That my house, and only my house, is too far from their job, or the town of Antioch in general is too far from their job?

And if so, why exactly were they looking at houses in Antioch? Were they lost?

Oh, well — it's all water under the bridge now (or, more appropriately, a zero balance on my credit cards). We closed on our house a week ago, and we were lucky enough to sell the house to a very nice family whom we hope will take better care of it than we did.

They even love the hill and the panoramic views that go along with it. Of course, they have not yet tried to get up the steep driveway after a fresh snowfall, but I'm sure they'll get the hang of it.

You just have to get a running start from about a block away. Piece of cake.

they can all do (and where), and then you follow them from room to room, re-doing everything they did because they didn't do it right. Finally, when you think the house looks reasonably clean (while you, on the other hand, now look like a bag lady), the doorbell will ring and, as you rush to answer it, the cat will hack up a hairball on the rug.

Personally, I believe that browsing should be a felony.

The second point that mystified me while our house was on the market was how many of the prospective buyers would complain about the fact that our house was built on a hill. I mean, it's not like we were hiding anything. Even when I was eight months pregnant, I could not have stood in front of my house and prevented a buyer from noticing it was on a hill. (Not even when I was retain-

Tax Changes for 1996

Tax law changes could affect the bottom line of your 1996 income tax return. Here are some changes you should know about.

Individual Changes

Personal exemptions are worth $2,550 for 1996.

For people who do not itemize their deductions, the standard deduction has increased. The new amounts are $4,000 for single people who cannot be claimed as another person's dependent; $5,900 for heads of households; and $6,700 for married people filing jointly or qualifying widow(er)s. People who are at least 65 years old or blind get an extra amount added to their standard deduction. The standard deduction is limited to the larger of $650 or earned income for people who can be claimed as dependents by another, and to $3,350 for married persons filing separately.

The earned income tax credit (EITC) will increase in 1996 for working people who qualify. The amount a person can earn and still be eligible for the credit increases, too.

Another change to the EITC relates to people with investment income, such as interest, dividends, rents and royalties. No one who has more than $2,350 in investment income may claim the EITC.

And finally, the EITC will be denied to any individual who is not authorized to work in the U.S. In order to claim the credit, the taxpayer (and spouse, if married) must have a valid Social Security number.

A valid taxpayer identification number will be required for each dependent or qualifying child as a condition for claiming a dependency deduction or a dependent care credit for the child.

Other changes affecting this year or future tax years will affect punitive damages received for personal injury or sickness, qualified state tuition programs, individual retirement account (IRA) contributions for spouses who do not work, a nonrefundable credit for certain adoption expenses, and medical savings accounts.

Business Changes

The 1996 standard mileage rate for using one's car for business is up a penny to 31 cents a mile. The special rate for rural mail carriers is up to 46.5 cents a mile.

And for 1996, the maximum wages and self-employment income subject to Social Security tax is $62,700.

The deduction for expenses in maintaining a home office has been clarified to permit a deduction for expenses related to a storage unit regularly used for inventory or product samples for tax years beginning after December 31, 1995.

Employers who were to begin making tax deposits electronically as of January 1, 1997, now have until July 1, 1997, to begin using the Electronic Federal Tax Payment System.

The exclusion for employer-provided educational assistance, which had expired December 31, 1994, has been retroactively extended through taxable years beginning before June 1, 1997.

Other business changes for this year or future tax years affect depreciable property, work opportunity tax credit, orphan drug tax credit, excise taxes and health insurance deductions for self-employed persons.

For more information on tax changes, call 1-800-829-3676 and get Publication 553, Highlights of 1996 Tax Changes.

Lipservice is a phone-in column presented as a feature of Lakeland Newspapers. Lakeland Newspapers makes no claim to the authenticity of the statements. Lakeland Newspapers does not claim the content or the subject matter as fact, but as the personal opinion of the caller. Removal costs

This is to the waste disposal company in Round Lake Park. In your newsletter, you allow one big item per week pickup. But you charged a senior citizen $30 to remove a toilet and say it's not considered because it's a piece of furniture.

Big Mac worth 10¢

The Big Mac is going to be 55 cents. But even that price will not pry me away from my beloved Whopper. However, if they make the Big Mac a dime, I'll have to reconsider.

Look at contributors

Gee, is anybody from Wauconda surprised that the mayor is not arguing against the malls and developments? Here's a guy who took eleven $1,000 donations from people outside of the city who were all associated with contractors, developers or real estate agents.

Christmas is over

How about a village ordinance on people who still have Christmas decorations up? My neighbors have nativity scenes, reindeers and snowmen out. Enough already. Let's have an ordinance that says they should be down by a certain date. Amen!

Charity first

To the person who made the comments "In need" on Feb. 28, shame on you. Whatever happened to doing something nice for someone without expecting something in return? I'm sure they weren't chit-chatting or selling stocks on your phone for 45 minutes. If you're that cheap, I'll send you the 40 cents!

Small town life

I think it's great that "all of the residents" of Island Lake have access to Mayor Amrich at the gas station. Small town life is the reason we moved to Island Lake in the first place. If his opponent is elected, she plans to hide behind an administrator.

Communication key

I notice Lakeland ran an article on the prospective Lake Villa District Library trustee contender named Frank Marshall. He speaks very vociferously about communication. He should communicate to the voters of the library district that he is a former library employee that left very quickly and mysteriously. Voters beware.

Use proper channels

To other concerned ACHS basketball fans. In reading a recent edition of Lakeland, I find it comforting that other ACHS basketball fans are aware of the situation at hand and would like to see changes. But Lipservice isn't the way to start. To get results, take your opinions and concerns to the ACHS athletic director and administration and sign your name to them. That way they will be aware of exactly how many people want changes made and cannot ignore the problem any longer.—Brent Lubeck

For your information

I'm a Gurnee resident and calling in regarding to Lipservice message "Change is coming" in the Feb. 23 edition. About the bus service called Jones out of Elkton, Wis., the person commented that it's an hour away and what do we know about the company. I was born and raised in Elkton and this was the bus service that I used as a child and it's a very good service. They will also be hiring local drivers. I just wanted to let you know that it's a good company.

Where are sites?

To Mayor Lumber of Round Lake, building commissioner Ray Wolfel, and village trustees: The people of Round Lake, especially the Friends of the Park, who collected over 833 signatures in two weekends in extremely cold weather and presented them to the Round Lake board, would like to know where the site of the new water towers of the Arrow Lake subdivision are really going to be. Ray Wolfel said that the Arrow Lake property will have one erected on it, and the second site is undetermined. We demand to know where the site is going to be. Please don't try to snow us again.

Stop the growth

Grayslake is a town of 15,000. Before, we had about 5,000. It seems like Grayslake has about a million houses and subdivisions. It seems like every day a subdivision is being built. Yet there are no new roads and accommodations being made to handle the overpopulation of people. Then they have to ask people to raise their taxes for the schools and village because there's so many people in the town now. The "let's blacktop America" attitude has also hit Grayslake. Now there's even security guards at the high school. There's no respect for their elders, where there was before. Grayslake is a completely different town. The question is not whether Grayslake has changed, but rather has it changed too quickly. Change is good, but change too fast is not.

Textbook problem

To Mike Maloney of the Gavin School Board in Ingleside: Why do we have the problem of ordering textbooks in our district? There's not enough to go around and the ones we have are out-of-date. I've also heard stories of books being copied so kids can read them at home. I'd like some comments on this because maybe that's why our district is below the state average.

Vote April 1st

Tuesday, April 1st, is election day. I'm a candidate for one of the elections. On behalf of all candidates, I'm asking everyone to come out and vote. All candidates work very hard and many long hours. Some foreign countries come out and vote at 75 to 80 percent. Most of our town and villages don't even vote at 30 percent. Please come out and vote!

Thanks for response

To the Lake Villa Volunteer Fire Department: The tenants at Mallard Ridge Apartments wish to thank you for your speedy response to a recent structure fire here and for preventing further spread of the fire and injuries. We appreciate the effort of all your volunteer members. God bless you!

Come and ask

In response to the writer of the commentary titled "Plan, plan," I'd like to ask if this person is more concerned with plays on words than getting their facts straight. Al Stubitsch and his trustees do have visions of what Mundelein can become and they have plans to make those visions a reality. I'd also like to ask the writer if they've attended any of Stubitsch's town home meetings, where they can ask Al and his candidates exactly what plans they want to put into effect.

Pro uniform

Every day I watch students from Round Lake High School walk down Cedar Lake Road and the majority of them are wearing gang colors. Many actually have "Kings" boldly written on their coats. I believe the school should incorporate school uniforms immediately. Parents are so naive or don't care; if your child is wearing stuff like this, they should be called in for a meeting at the school to make them aware. This has got to stop.

Can wildlife read?

My nephew relates to me that he was helping forest preserve personnel remove trees from unwanted areas in the local forest preserve. A chemical was then applied to the stumps and a sign posted reminding everyone to stay away. Do you suppose the wildlife can read these signs, too?

What happened?

Whatever happened regarding the sewers of Antioch Township? My family spends about $50 a month, at least $600 a year, washing our clothes at a laundromat. Having sewers would not only improve our standard of living and be better for the environment due to surface runoff contamination, but would probably be more economical in the long run. I sure hope the dream of being able to wash a load of laundry in my home comes true. I'm not going to vote or support any more school referendums or park district funding until our township needs are met as well.

Comedy Night fun

I'm calling about the Antioch Junior Women's Club Comedy Night held March 8. What an excellent job everyone did. It was a lot of fun. I hope to see more of it. Congratulations on a job well done!

Straight and narrow

I can't understand why the county wants to straighten out Bonner Road in Wauconda, which they say would make it safer because of the S-curve it has now. If they straighten it, people will be traveling at a higher speed than they do now. With proposal of the road coming between 30 feet of homes there and a bicycle path eight feet from the road, it's not fair to the residents out there.

Re-evaluate

I think the State of Illinois should re-evaluate its policies on medical procedures when they pull a person's driver's license. Four months ago, I was involved in an incident that has literally ruined me because they took my driving privileges away because it was medically related. I feel that a driver should only be restricted from driving up to 50 days maximum and be allowed to go to work constantly. They told me I would have to wait until June and this incident happened in November. Don't ruin a person's life because of a medical incident.

No swimming

I'm concerned about what's going on in Island Lake and our beaches. It looks like our beaches will be closed this summer. They've known about the new beach regulations for about a year and haven't done anything to comply. They won't even say anything at the board meetings. When I asked the mayor what he was going to do, he gave me no answer. We're running out of time. They haven't even okayed the budget so they can talk about money and expenditures for the new regulations. What's going on? Let's get going or we don't have our beaches this summer.

It was alcohol

I'm calling about the message "Disgrace" in the March 14th Lipservice. I'm sorry about the loss of his father, but it was alcohol that killed his father, not the fact that the person was from Mexico.

I want to commend Lakeland on the article on the Fellowship of Christian Athletes that Alec Junge wrote. It's nice to open up a newspaper and read an article that identifies the importance of Jesus Christ in our kids' lives. Keep printing them!

Check equipment

People who are experiencing interference from CB radios should look at their own equipment first. Televisions without filters or old, worn antenna wire will contribute to this. Cheap telephones also contribute. It may be your own equipment.

Did he or didn't he?

My question is, "Did he or didn't he?" Did acting village president John Clery of Hawthorn Woods use his office and spend taxpayer dollars to settle a property dispute with his neighbor? Ask Mr. Clery. Better yet, ask his neighbors, Don and Anita Wells. You be the judge.

Parkway readies for Easter Brunch

The Parkway Restaurant on Belvidere Rd. in Waukegan will hold a special Champagne Easter Buffet Brunch, from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., on Easter Sunday, March 30.

Reservations are required if you want a table waiting for you on that busy Easter Sunday. Why not make your reservations now? Call (847) 336-0222.

Seafood lovers shouldn't miss the Fish Feast featuring broiled or fried haddock, including chowder, potato and salad for $7.95.

You'll also want to try the Boston Clam Chowder, and watch for the succulent Seafood Bisque that usually appears on the menu every four weeks. This spicy bisque is made with a lobster base and crab meat. Other menu items include fresh baked salmon with hollandaise sauce, and Oysters Lorenzo (baked oysters on the half shell topped with creamy mushroom sauce, doused with crab flakes and sprinkled with Parmesan cheese.)

Owner Peter Paulson is proud of the Shrimp de Johne casserole with just the right amount of garlic, creating a tantalizing aroma.

Seafood is not Parkway's only epicurean forte. The restaurant is also well known for choice beef selections such as prime rib, Parkway Fillet and a 16-ounce strip steak, among others. Choose from a petite cut of prime rib for only $14.95. The regular cut is a bargain at $16.95.

Some of the popular entrees are the fresh braised lamb shanks for $11.95, and delicious BBQ Baby Back Ribs. Parkway's desserts please the sweet tooth, especially the red layer cake, a multi-layered devil's food concoction and a variety of homemade pies.

Parkway has been a family run business for 50 years with second generation owner Paulson getting help from his wife and son Martin. Paulson feels that people who come to Parkway are secure in the fact that the restaurant has been able to maintain a professional staff with minimal turnover through the years.

Parkway has a great location for northern Lake County and has been the site for many lucrative business luncheons. As Parkway staff likes to say, "If your lunch is important, you should be having it at Parkway."

Parkway has three separate dining rooms, each with its own individual bar, that can accommodate 20-90 people for special occasions. The restaurant is open for lunch on Tuesday through Friday and open daily at 4 p.m. for dinner.

Candlelight's 'Sherlock's Last Case' is tricky mystery

Mysteries can sometimes be tricky to pull off, but at Candlelight's Forum Theatre director Larry Wyatt succeeds—and makes it look easy.

Charles Marowitz' "Sherlock's Last Case," a who-dunit that mixes elements of intrigue and comedy, is well cast with Ned Schmidtke as the brassy, quick-witted sleuth Sherlock Holmes and Dale Benson, his ever-present, ambitious biographer Dr. Watson.

Despite a few muffled lines on opening night, the two turn in credible performances.

Without giving away the plot, suffice it to say the play raises the question: If Sherlock is the victim, who will solve the crime?

Jeff Bauer handles the scenic design well. The famous detective's office is filled with enough details, from books to test tubes of chemicals to period furniture, to enhance the flavor of the play. And, during a brief blackout, the entire setting is cleverly transformed to an ominous, dank cellar.

The rest of the cast—David Lively, the serious-minded Inspector Lestrade; Lolly Trauscht, the overwrought housekeeper; and Wendi Weber, in a variety of roles—is also right on the money.

See "Sherlock's Last Case" through May 25. The theater is at 5620 S. Harlem Ave. in Summit. For ticket information, call (708)496-3000. —by TOM WITOM being a teacher," claims Vucic. "You have to teach clients how to use the exercise equipment properly, educate them on how important diet, health and fitness is, and I like that."

The most common problem people make in their daily exercise routine is "When people first start working out at the club they may not be using the equipment properly. They get frustrated, sore and upset. It's my job to be out in the exercise area to check up on everyone, answer questions, and make sure that everything is running correctly," states Vucic.

As I huffed and puffed on the treadmill, Vucic's words of encouragement to me were to "Be happy with yourself, it's unfortunate that the majority of people judge you for what you look like." I knew I would be in good hands for the next month with Tepper and Vucic in my corner.

If the exercise machines are not your style, Bally Total Fitness also offers aerobic and step classes seven days a week. All classes are 55 minutes in length and include a warm up and cool down period. New to the line up is "Funk," a cardiovascular workout incorporating the use of "funky" dance movements.

To keep clients on the right track Bally Total Fitness offers a nutritional supplement program. "The key to a healthy body is a well-balanced diet and exercise program and added supplements may be needed," explained Tepper.

Bally offers BTrim for women which provides nutrients that help reduce body fat, assists the body in exercise recovery, increases endurance and energy while naturally reducing cravings. It contains AbsorbLean to help block the absorption of dietary fat. BLean for men helps maximize results from exercise and aids in post workout recovery, assisting the enhancement of muscular definition, helps convert fat to energy, and increases stamina. BFit for women and men is a daily multi-vitamin that for women has advanced antioxidants and combats premature aging and increases skin radiance, hair and nail strength. For men BFit contains advanced body repairing antioxidants, and helps energy levels and supports the immune system.

Bally Total Fitness is not just a place for people who are trying to lose weight. "Many people come here that need to gain weight and trying to gain weight is sometimes just as hard," stated Vucic.

Bally's staff are all trained professionals that can recommend a diet program and exercise routine to get you to reach your personal goals.

If that motivation is still not there, Bally Total Fitness also offers a personal trainer, Bob Mason, to set you on the right track. To end a great work-out session, a massage by Larisa can have you relaxed and ready for the next work-out routine.

So, after one month of treadmilling, bicycling, and following the Life Circuit machines, Tepper and Vucic were right, my clothes are fitting a little looser. I may even go out and buy a scale! I now welcome spring with a smile. I have a great exercise program to follow, plenty of encouragement in my corner and I actually packed my bulky sweaters away. And, yes, I have my blouse tucked in!

"With a combination of eating right, exercise and an improved attitude, you too can reach your personal goal," ended Tepper.

To find your own way back to a healthier, fit you visit Bally Total Fitness on Rte. 60 in Vernon Hills. Hours are 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday; 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Prices to join vary and Bally's has several packages to fit all lifestyles, starting at $19.95 per month, that equals approximately 60 cents a day, which is the cost of a can of pop.

Use time-saving equipment to increase garden enjoyment

If you're like most Lake County gardeners, you'd love to have a beautiful vegetable garden, and can't wait to start the spring planting, but afraid you won't have the time? Join the increasing number of on-the-go gardeners who are effectively using timesaving equipment.

The main consideration in productive, time-efficient gardening is determining your specific needs.

With this in mind, you will be able to decide the types of equipment necessary to get you on your way.

This means that you will have to decide how large, or small, you wish to plant your garden. You will also want to determine the kind of soil you have in order to choose tools and equipment designed for your garden type.

Here's a list of equipment to get you started and keep you going:

Digging tool

When planning a garden of small to medium size, you'll generally find that simple handheld tools are the way to go.

A trowel is probably the most used gardening tool, since it is both functional and versatile. It can be used indoors when starting seeds early and outside for all types of gardening tasks. When selecting a trowel, look for a strong steel shank that connects the blade to the handle. The shank is the part that receives the greatest stress and is usually the place where a trowel will wear out first.

A transplanter is a trowel with a narrow blade marked off in inches and will assist you in determining the soil depth of nursery plants, bulbs and tubers.

A 3-claw hand cultivator is perfect for breaking small sections of compacted soil. It is also useful for removing unwanted growths such as weeds and crabgrass.

Hoes, rakes, forks

A rugged garden hoe is a familiar and productive gardening tool that you can use for chopping dirt clods, making furrows, digging out weeds and hillling potatoes.

A garden rake aids in the task of spreading peat moss before tilling and smoothing the seedbed before planting.

Perfect for the small garden, a spading fork can be used to turn a small plot by hand. It is also useful in turning compost and spreading peat moss.

Watering supplies

To ensure that your vegetable garden receives the proper amount of moisture throughout the season, watering supplies are of the utmost importance.

There are many types of hoses available. The most common type is made to carry water to a sprinkler head. These can be made of plastic, polyvinyl or heavy-duty rubber. While rubber hoses generally last the longest, plastic and polyvinyl hoses will be adequate in situations when your garden requires little spraying. A soaker hose if filled with tiny holes and, when properly positioned in your garden, will provide a constant, gentle application of water directly onto your vegetation.

For watering a large garden, an oscillating sprinkler can be used. The sprinkler head moves in a back-and-forth pattern to cover a large area more quickly.

Walk-behind tillers

When working on a large garden, you'll often find that larger equipment is needed.

A compact tiller is a rugged helper that will save you hours of work. These tillers range from two to three and one-half horsepower and till a path anywhere from six to 36 inches wide, meaning they're perfect for preparing a small to medium garden seedbed.

Heavy-duty walk-behind tillers provide greater horsepower and wider tilling widths for extra-large gardens. If you elect to purchase a heavy-duty model, be sure to get one with reverse drive. This will allow you to back away from fences and maneuver out of corners without strain.

Tractor-mounted implements

If you already own a lawn and garden tractor and are planning a large garden, you can add a tiller attachment for fast seedbed preparation and cultivation. Tractor-mounted tillers range from 30 to 48 inches wide. Most are mechanical and run off the tractor PTO; some models run off the tractor hydraulic system.

A hydraulic tiller can be mounted to the tractor for standard forward tiling. This mounting is recommended for tilling soft soil and for cultivating.

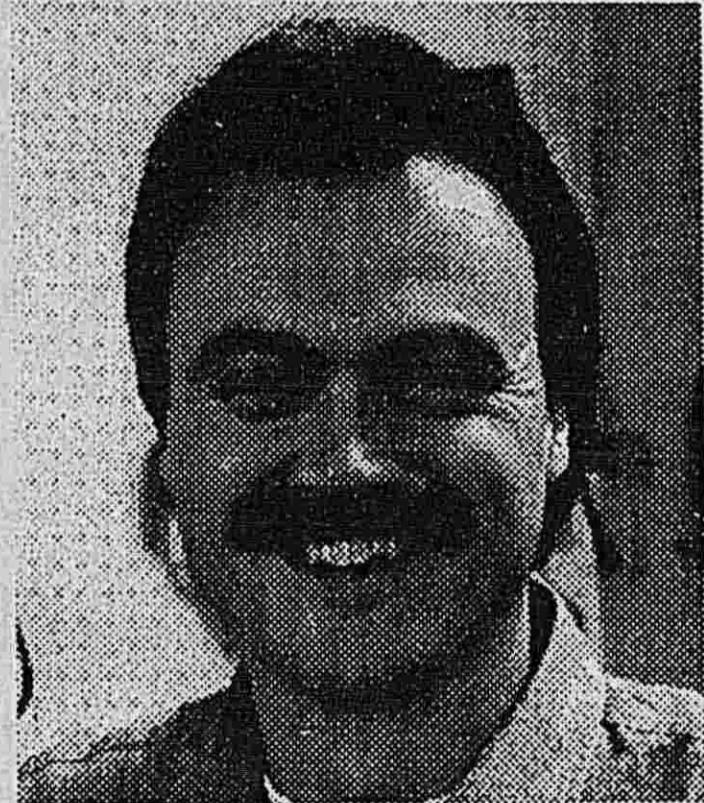

The tiller can also be mounted "backward," which provides a counterrotating tine action that helps the tiller break up hard soil and sod more thoroughly in one pass.

A dumpcart is another useful tool which will aid you and your tractor in hauling such things as large bales of peat moss, heavy bags of fertilizer, lime and sand or compost. Dumpcarts range from a capacity of 5.75 cubic feet and a 400-pound load to eight cubic feet and a 900-pound load.

Lastly, if you discover that your large garden is under attack by insects or disease, you may wish to invest in a tractor-mounted sprayer which can carry gallons of spray and insecticide.

Whether you're planning a large or small vegetable garden this year, make sure that you have the proper timesaving equipment designed for your specific needs.

Governor announces dramatic improvement in Illinois immunization rates for 2-year-olds

Gov. Jim Edgar announced Illinois now is among the top 10 states in the country for the percentage of 2-year-olds immunized against vaccine-preventable diseases, a dramatic improvement from the state's previous ranking in the bottom five states.

"We are beginning to see the results of an aggressive effort by the state and by health care providers to make sure more Illinois infants and toddlers are fully immunized and protected," the governor said. "Immunizations are the most powerful and cost-effective way to prevent common childhood diseases that can cause lifetime disability, disfigurement or even death."

The National Immunization Survey released by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) reports that in 1995, 81 percent of Illinois' 2-year-olds had completed the series of three recommended immunizations—four doses of diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis (DTP) vaccine; three doses of oral polio vaccine; and one dose of measles, mumps and rubel-la (MMR) vaccine. That percentage means Illinois is tied for ninth in the nation. Maine was ranked first with 89 percent.

In addition, the department provides local health departments and other public health providers with incentive payments for completing the vaccine series for 2-year-olds. The department pays $10 for each child fully immunized. If the local health department or public clinic achieves full coverage for 90 percent of the children they serve, the per-child payment is boosted to $15.

Since 1994, the department has paid $5.3 million in incentives, including an estimated $1.6 million since July 1996.

The CDC survey, which surveyed parents of 838 Illinois children born between February 1992 and May 1994, reported the immunization rate for Chicago was 71 percent. The rate for the rest of the state was 85 percent.

The CDC sampling also looked separately at coverage for recommended immunizations for Haemophilus influenza type B (Hib) and hepatitis B. About 93 percent of Illinois 2-year-olds had received the Hib vaccine and 67 percent had received the hepatitis B vaccine, which will become a state requirement after July 1 for 2-year-olds enrolled in school-based early education programs.

Parents are other caretakers who need help obtaining information about immunizations, locating a health care provider enrolled in the VFC Plus program or finding a local health department or clinic that provides immunizations may call Mrs. Edgar's Help Me Grow hotline at 1(800)323-GROW (voice and TDD).

Help Me Grow is a public awareness campaign in cooperation with Ronald McDonald's House Charities that gives parents and other guardians better access to information about existing preventive services, including immunizations, for children and families. See IMMUNIZATION page B22

Marlene Brown and Lori Murphy demonstrate how ear candles work to clear up the passageway on Barb Goff at Murphy's Health Food Store in Libertyville.—Photo by Sandy Bressner

Demonstrating art of 'ear candling'

Demonstrations on 'ear candling' will be given at Murphy's Health Foods and Juice Bar during the week of March 24 through 29. The store, located at Church and Milwaukee in downtown Libertyville, will offer "how-to" demonstrations.

"Ear candling is an old, proven and safe method of cleaning wax out of the ears," stated Lori Murphy, owner. "The candles we sell are of high quality, and have been very popular," she added.

Murphy, and other staff people will be showing customers how to do this process at the following times: Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 10:30, 11:30, 2 and 3 p.m.; and on Saturday at 11 a.m., 1, 2, 3, and 4 p.m.

Participants interested in making an appointment to have the candling done should call 362-4664.

The candling will be done at no charge. The only obligation is to purchase the candles.

YOUR EYES

by Charlotte F. Nielsen O.D.

Good vision, as important as it is to adults, is even more essential to children. With their whole life before them, the ability of children to see well will influence the effectiveness of their education, their social behavior, even their posture.

A child learns more through her eyes than her other four senses combined. If she is too nearsighted, she may shrink from games with other children and from team sports. If too farsighted, she may have trouble with her schoolwork and other activities requiring close-up work. Unless her eyes coordinate well together, her posture may reflect her attempts to avoid using one eye.

No child should be handicapped by faulty vision. See that your child has her eyes examined regularly and has the proper correction for any vision deficiency.

Condell honored as one of Illinois top 10 hospitals

Condell Medical Center in Libertyville will be the only Lake County hospital to be honored as one of the top 10 donors in Illinois in 1996 by the Illinois Eye-Bank. The presentation will take place in the emergency department of the hospital at 10 a.m. on March 20.

"In honoring 1996 Leading Eye Donor Hospitals, we looked at more than just the numbers of eyes and corneas donated. For example, the most important—and often most difficult—task for a hospital staff person is to approach the family of the deceased to ask for permission for any eye donation," reports Chuck Pivoney, administrator for the Illinois Eye-Bank. "The hospital's staff did an outstanding job for Illinoisans needing corneal transplantation," he added.

Accepting the award for Condell Medical Center, Colette Hall, vice president for nursing services, noted, "Nurses and physicians in our emergency department and intensive care unit have demonstrated unusual dedication to the eye-bank donor program. We are proud of their determination and know it represents their commitment to our patients and to the community."

The Condell staff members to be cited for their participation in the donor program are emergency department staff members Dr. Eugene Saltzberg of Lake Forest, Cheryl Lovejoy and Kim Gentry of Gurnee, Connie Zickenheiner, Joy Ogden, Laura Molnar and Nurse Supervisor Linda Hiratsuka of Libertyville, Donna Scheutzw of Spring Grove, and Renee Valentine of Chicago.

The Intensive Care Unit staff member Molly Watkins of Zion will also be honored. In addition, Lake County Deputy Coroner John Rorabeck will be recognized for his participation in the Eye-Bank donor program.

Founded in 1947, the Illinois Eye-Bank has been helping give the Gift of Sight by promoting eye donations across the state. The Illinois Eye-Bank and its new affiliated the BroMenn-Watson Gailey Eye-Bank in Normal/Bloomington, together serve the northern two-thirds of Illinois, providing over 95 percent of all corneal tissue used for transplants by Illinois citizens.

The Eye-Bank's mission is sight restoration, accomplished through the recovery and distribution of eyes and corneal tissue for transplantation, research, and education.

Shyness—a problem that can effect children and adults alike

Hello Dr Sherri,

The reason for this letter is to say that I appreciated your article on recognizing depression. I would also like to know if extreme shyness is in any way connected with this. I find that approaching someone I don't know is absolutely terrifying. This is true even if I've conversed over the phone or e-mail. I don't seem to have a problem with approaching people in business affairs, asking for help at a store, interacting with co-workers, even stopping for directions. It's just in social situations such as parties and dating. Perhaps maybe you could write a column on how parents could deal with this in their children?

Also, into a child's adult life, is there any way to deal with it? I've found your advice to be clear and very sensible. Thanks for any advice you can give. B.E.

Dear B.E.,

In my view, shyness is more of a self-confidence issue than a depression issue. Certainly, people who are depressed tend to pull away from other people and social interactions, but it is usually a pulling away from ALL interactions, not just certain ones. Shyness can be equally disturbing to the person it effects, though.

For both children and adults alike, helping shyness will be a matter of looking into past social interactions. Sometimes, if we have a bad experience with a social interaction, we will carry that connection with us and expect the same thing of future social interactions. If we have carried enough of those negative interactions long enough, we may not only expect them, but also cause them to actually happen.

For example, I saw a man years ago, in treatment, who could not keep a relationship going past a couple weeks and could not figure out why. When we took a close look at what he was doing in these relationships, we found that he was hurting the other person before that other person got a chance to hurt him. He had been through other relationships where the other person had hurt him and he was afraid of going through it again, so instead of being the, "hurted," he became the, "hurter." It was safer that way, but blocked him from where he wanted to be.

I say the next thing with caution and a disclaimer. Sometimes shyness can stem from the things we've learned about ourselves at home.

Now, let me disclaim first! I am not a parent-blamer nor will I ever be. Blame gets us absolutely nowhere and does not help the situation. What I do advocate, especially for adults who have grown up with this problem or any other problem, is that you should know about what your relationships were like as a child purely as reference material. There are two ways to go through learning about your problems. You can blame and wallow or you can research and use the material as reference for the present and future. My choice is always the second one because the first does nothing to help anyone.

So, adults should look back at how they developed their self-image. What messages helped build that self-image, from others around them? For current parents of small children, make sure that while you are holding your child responsible for all behavior decisions, you are also helping that child to know that he or she is a capable and lovable human being. When we are shy, especially painfully shy, we are basically afraid of people seeing the real us, because we don't feel good about the real person inside.

What do we do with this past relationship information once we have it? Just understand that those past messages don't have to be the rule of our adult life! We can choose other interpretations and choices. We have that power to do that!

There are many things adults can do to help this problem. The first I would suggest is reading a great book. The book I would suggest is, "On The Family" by John Bradshaw. This is a book about family relationships and growing up in different family situations. He is very big in this area and many of my clients have really gotten a lot out of this book. It is a red cover with black print and will be at any big bookstore chain.

Also, any good assertiveness training tape series or book would be great because normally, they also go into your past as well, in terms of messages you got about yourself.

For kids, older ones can also read about assertiveness. Younger and older ones, need the nourishment of personality from parents, grandparents and other around them. This does not mean you should back off on appropriate discipline!

If either adult or child has had an experience or experiences with rejection that they cannot get over and are carrying with them, therapy is always a great way to deal with that type of issue. I hope this helps.

Immunization

The national average was 76 percent. The national goal is to achieve a 90 percent immunization rate for 2-year-olds by the year 2000. In 1994, the first year of the CDC survey, Illinois ranked 46th with just 68 percent of 2-year-olds fully immunized.

"The peace of mind alone that immunizations provide for families is invaluable," Edgar said. "And as children benefit from this health protection, families and taxpayers also benefit through the savings of scarce health care dollars and resources."

The Illinois health care and education community is to be commended for its work in making immunizations a top statewide priority."

The governor also credited First Lady Brenda Edgar's "Help Me Grow" campaign for helping to raise awareness in Illinois about the need for timely immunizations and about the availability of immunizations through programs sponsored by the Dept. of Public Health and community agencies.

"The results we're seeking are gratifying to say the least, but we still have a lot of work to do," Mrs. Edgar said. "We need to build on these efforts, remove more of the barriers to immunization services, and make sure immunizations are available to all during convenient hours and regardless of their ability to pay."

The Dept. of Public Health launched its Vaccines for Children Plus (VFC Plus) program in October 1994 to provide free vaccines to children enrolled in Medicaid and to those without adequate health insurance coverage for immunizations. The vaccines are available at public clinics or through private health care providers enrolled in the program.

This year, VFC Plus will use as much as $23.3 million in state and federal funds to purchase and deliver vaccine to health care providers throughout the state.

Portable breathalyzer expected to hike arrests

Marine patrol can check boaters for DUI on the water

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

The Lake County Sheriff's Department believes it has another tool to help in the arrest of intoxicated boaters.

New this year is a portable breathalyzer unit. It will enable marine police to check boaters immediately to determine if they are operating under the influence (OUI).

"We can check them on the spot to determine if they OUI," said Cpl. Thomas Braze.

Previously, the marine unit would have to administer the test at the land base in Fox Lake. Therefore, they would have to take the time to bring the person to the land

The test is done immediately and impairment can be determined right away. If the person is impaired the arrest can be made and if not they can be released immediately.

base for a breath test.

No longer will the officers have to make a decision about what to do with a boat if they suspect someone of being intoxicated.

"The officers won't have to worry about towing a boat or having that person drive if he is by himself."

base for a breath test.

No longer will the officers have to make a decision about what to do with a boat if they suspect someone is impaired the arrest can be made and if not they can be released immediately.

Braze added marine units will be aggressively monitoring waterways during the peak boating season which typically runs from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

"We will be watching for boaters who are driving erratically," Braze said.

Enforcement efforts will be stepped up Thursdays-Sundays because they tend to be the busiest boating days, according to Braze.

The quicker testing is expected to free up time for officers and increase the amount of OUI arrests.

Last year there were 19 OUI arrests.

If someone registers at a .10 blood alcohol level or higher it is considered operating under the influence.

The department won't change their policy toward stopping suspected intoxicated boaters. Currently all that is really needed is a safety check.

The unit costs $2,250, can be taken almost anywhere and can run on batteries if a source of power is not available.

Officials expect to have the unit ready for Memorial Day. Braze added that may be pushed up to an earlier date.

Preserve chemical use under fire

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Editor in Chief

The Lake County Forest Preserve has come under fire again this week from wildlife activist Davida Terry of Riverwoods who is objecting to the practice of girdling trees and spraying the chemical Garlon 4 on forest preserve property.

The forest preserve is currently involved with restoration projects at Old School Forest Preserve and at Grainger Woods. Both are in the Libertyville area.

Terry disagrees with the philosophy of prairie restoration in which "non-native plants" and species are removed to return the land to how it appeared before major settlement occurred in the area.

"What they have done is choose a period of time in the 1800s and said this is what is natural for the area," Terry said. "I believe what has occurred on the land since that time is also natural. How do we determine what is natural and what isn't? It has all been created by nature."

At the heart of Terry's argument is the use of the chemical Garlon 4 to kill tree stumps after they trees have been girdled. Girdling is a process in which a ring of bark is removed near the trunk's base, causing the tree to die but remain standing. According to the forest preserve, this has the added benefit of providing habitat for woodpeckers, bluebirds, hawks, owls, insects and other wildlife.

"Garlon 4 is a hazardous chemical. All you have to do is read the warning signs on the bottle," Terry said. "It clearly states on the bottle that it should not be applied to areas where surface water is present. If you walk through these areas you can clearly see tree stumps with the blue markings of Garlon 4 on them that are sitting in ground water." Terry said as for girdling the trees, she questions how safe the habitat is they create for owls and other animals if the trees are treated with Garlon 4.

Terry is concerned for area residents in Libertyville and Mettawa who are on wells.

"Information packages were sent to all adjacent property owners in November and December and large 'habitat' See CHEMICAL page C2

Burglary suspect on trial for strip mall ring

Staff Report

A man alleged to be the ring leader of 73 strip mall burglaries in Lake County is on trial.

Jay Culbertson, 28, of 4327 Centennial Court, Gurnee, faces 90 years in prison if he is convicted of nine burglaries he was charged with last year.

Culbertson was arrested along with two other suspects Nov. 29 by Mundelein police after being followed from a strip mall in Buffalo Grove.

Someone in the car saw the police unit and sped away.

A special Repeat Offender Task Force of Lake County task force was created to help form a clearing house of information on these burglaries. The investigation took three months.

Authorities believe $40,000-$50,000 was taken from strip malls throughout the county from March until November 1996. The break-ins occurred on Friday evenings with the suspects using a pry bar to gain access to commercial buildings.

Two of Culbertson's reported accomplices, Mark Didier, 21, of Trevor, and Shawn Lewey, 18, 112 Bellevue, Round Lake Park, will testify against him in an effort to lower their sentences.

Culbertson had two previous burglary convictions.

He is charged with one burglary in Antioch, another in Waukegan, four in Mundelein and three in Vernon Hills.

He is suspected to be behind other burglaries in Antioch, Fox Lake, Grayslake, Gurnee, Lake Zurich, Lindenhurst, Mundelein, Round Lake Beach, Vernon Hills and Waukegan.

He is believed to be involved in 11 burglaries in Lindenhurst and Lake Zurich alone.

The trial is expected to go into next week before the jury is ready to render a verdict on the case.

Culbertson's attorney, Matt Chace, was unable to be reached for comment.

Chemical

restoration signs" were installed in early February," said Andy Kimmel of the Lake County Forest Preserve. "Additionally, we post large bright orange notification signs where herbicides have been used." Kimmel also said the use of the chemicals and restoration projects are outlined in the district's winter newsletter, "Horizons."

Kimmel defends the forest preserve's use of Garlon 4, saying it is applied only by licensed applicators according to prescribed directions and federal, state and district regulations. According to information from the forest preserve Garlon 4 works well because it effectively kills the roots of the plant to which it is applied, but does not leach through the soil to other plants or into ground water. It has virtually a non-toxic effect on soil microorganisms and is not toxic to people or animals as it is applied in a diluted form.

Terry and other concerned citizens, however, question the public information. "I'm not convinced the workers applying this know what they are doing,"

Terry said. "I have walked through these sites and found used containers of Garlon 4 left in the forest preserve and seen unattended brush fires. I don't think that is how Lake County residents want their forest preserves being managed."

Kimmel said the crews in the forest preserve are under contract and are certified to apply the chemicals. "All workers have been trained by a district-approved ecologist whose responsibilities are to train and monitor all work conducted," Kimmel said.

The workers at Old School Forest Preserve and under contract with Hendrickson Care of Trees. The workers at Grainger Woods are under contract with The Brickman Group.

Kimmel said the projects are inspected regularly by the forest preserve district staff.

Kimmel added the forest preserve provides free presentations regarding the Natural Resources Management Program and Integrated Planning Process to home owners and community groups. To arrange a presentation, residents should contact Sue Hawkins, 367-6640, ext. 122.

Habitat restoration projects are being undertaken by the Lake County Forest Preserve in both Grainger Woods and Old School Forest Preserve. Some of the practices used in the project have been questioned by area residents.

Week of Young Child celebration kicks off April 13

The Week of the Young Child celebration will begin in Lake County on Sunday, April 13, in the showcourt area of Gurnee Mills with three hours of free family entertainment, starting at 12:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the Child Care Coalition of Lake County, the afternoon's entertainment will feature Caribbean-born Danny Hinds and his Sundance Production Multiple Performing Arts Company with dancers, drummers and percussionists of all ages and audience participation. Other performers are the Dave Herzog Marionettes, folk singer Fred Koch and the Northern Knights Magic Club.

The showcourt area, near the JC Penney Outlet, is adjacent to parking lot G or H. Gurnee Mills, at 6170 Grand Avenue in Gurnee, is off of Illinois Interstate Hwy. 94.

The annual event will include a toy weapon turn-in. Each child will receive a prize in exchange for a weapon associated with violent play. Students and teachers from the College of Lake County will help children construct a sculpture with the toys they've turned in.

The Child Care Coalition of Lake County also will announce winners of a poster contest held at local schools under the sponsorship of the Coalition's Business Roundtable. In addition every family attending the Week of the Young Child kickoff will be eligible for raffle prizes from Gurnee Mills merchants.

Other entertainment includes face painting and an arts and crafts area where children can make items to take home. Teachers from local preschools and day care centers, including Spanish-speaking programs, will assist with the projects.

The Child Care Coalition of Lake County's celebration is part of a national effort to draw attention to young children as the country's most valuable resource. The National Association for the Education of Young Children is the sponsor nationwide.

The Child Care Coalition of Lake County—made up of professionals in health, education, welfare and business—works to achieve high quality care and education for young children.

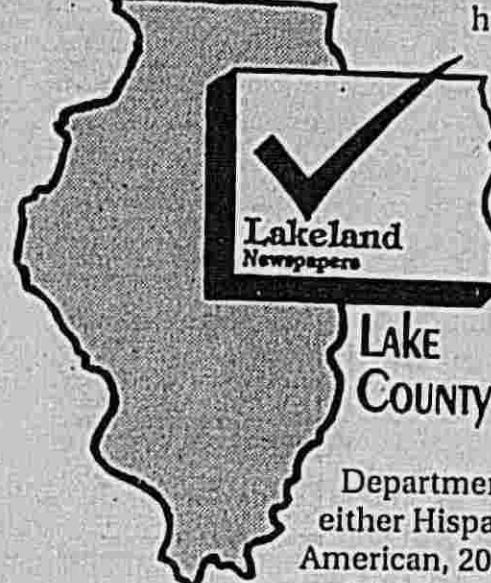

During the Week of the Young Child, the Child Care Coalition will continue to encourage parents to act on behalf of their children. The Coalition is asking parents to remind employers that they need quality child care by wearing cardboard pin replicas of their children at their workplaces. Teachers will be on hand at the April 13 Gurnee Mills event to help children make the cardboard replicas of themselves.

AT A GLANCE

Police seek child enticer

LAKE VILLA—Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst and Lake County Sheriff's Department are combining their efforts to find a suspect who has been trying to entice children into his car.

There were three separate incidents, all in Lake Villa Township, which have caused police to alert parents and school officials. According to the Sheriff's Department, the suspect is either Hispanic or African-American, 20-40 years of age and was driving a white older model vehicle with tinted windows and possibly some rust spots.

The suspect apparently stops to ask children if they have found a lost puppy and invites them to get into the car and help find the dog.

School officials are reminding children not to talk to strangers and not go into a stranger's vehicle if asked.

Police are working to create a composite sketch of the suspect. They are still searching for the suspect and would appreciate any information that could lead to an arrest. —by ALEC JUNGE

Pom pons second at state

ANTIOCH—Antioch Community High School Varsity Pom Pon squad came within a point of the state title.

The squad finished second out of the 96 squads competing. They were but one point away from champion Naperville Central.

Coach Joy Edge said she was proud of her squad's effort. The differential amounted to what one judge scored one routine. The Sequoits finished second in the dance funk portion of the competition.

Edge added the team evolved into a solid dance team as the year progressed.

This is the second straight year the team took second at the state meet. Not bad for a team which had eight sophomores and four seniors. —by ALEC JUNGE

Chase brings arrest

GRAYSLAKE—A wanted felon led a Grayslake officer and a county officer and partner on a high speed chase from Grayslake to Gurnee and back to Grayslake topping over 100 mph Sunday March 16. All this occurred as a result of a simple attempt to stop a motorist who had run a stop sign.

Richard L. Canterbury, 50, with no known address, was driving a stolen car, with stolen Wisconsin license plates that were reported missing from Iowa, and didn't want to be caught. He eventually came to a halting stop at the Grayslake McDonald's when he hit a cement parking block, deflating two of his tires.

Canterbury was a wanted man with over a dozen warrants including nine felony warrants out for his arrest. They were all for forgery related incidents.

Once he stopped it was discovered he was carrying a BB gun fashioned to look like a gun and he also had live shotgun ammunition in the car.

Canterbury has been charged with possession of a stolen automobile, possession of ammunition by a felon, possession of a stolen certificate of title, charged with nine counts of felony fugitive from justice, fleeing and eluding and reckless driving. —by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Recycling garbage for energy

GRAYSLAKE—A energy conversion plant which would be the first of its kind for Lake County is on its way to being a likely reality within a year's time frame. The proposed cogeneration facility to be built across from the USA Waste Countryside Landfill in unincorporated Lake County would convert gas generated by the landfill into energy which would be sold to ComEd. The plant has received favorable rezoning recommendations from the village plats and subs committee. It is being put on a fast track for moving through the remainder of the approval process. Once the developers receive expected approval from the Grayslake Village Board they'll be able to move forward with the development of site plans. The plant is being developed cooperatively by USA Waste Services Inc., Miss Mimi Corporation which is the property holder, and will be operated by Yankee Energy Services Company of Connecticut. —by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Gun earns student suspension

PARK CITY—Woodland Dist. 50 officials used an up-front approach when confronting a weapons situation involving a second-grade student.

"The social workers and the teachers talked about the importance of gun safety to every class," Mary Jo Przygoda, district spokesperson, said.

A Park City mother has been charged with possessing a firearm without an owners card while her daughter was suspended when she arrived at school on March 13.

The girl had one gun on her person at the bus stop. Another student noticed this and the bus driver was notified and in turn the Park City Police Department. Ammunition was found in the home but not in the gun, according to Park City police.

Park City Police Chief Mike Luff said that was the first time in 22 years that someone of that age had gotten a hold of a gun. "The key is education. You remove the curiosity when you inform them," he said.

The gun was initially to be used as a "show and tell" item in class. —by STEVE PETERSON

Board defends meal expenses

VERNON HILLS—Mayor Roger Byrne and village trustees justified use of the village credit card in order to pay for missed meals following lengthy board meetings. Byrne also claimed that the use of the village credit card for dinner reasons following long board meetings was common practice by other governing boards.

"All boards do it," Byrne said. "You want to do an investigation, see what other boards do."

Lakeland Newspapers polled several neighboring villages to ascertain their policies and uses of village credit cards.

In Lake Zurich, a village credit card exists for occasions involving purchases by village staff. The office of mayor is also authorized to use the village credit card. In Libertyville, village credit cards exist for village staff only. In Grayslake, Lindenhurst and Gurnee there are no credit cards accessible to village staff or board members.

Byrne and Trustee Richard Cashman indicated the board may review the credit card policy in Vernon Hills following the April 1 election. —by KEVIN HANRAHAN

AAIM backs LZPD's DUI efforts

LAKE ZURICH—Members of the Schaumburg-based Alliance Against Intoxicated Motorists came out in support of the Lake Zurich Police Department at this week's board of trustees meeting, in light of the department coming under attack from restaurant owners for what some see as an "overzealous" attempt to arrest drunken drivers.

"We were prompted by a concern for public safety in Lake Zurich," said Charlene Chapman, executive director, adding she and Phil Rog, an AAIM director, were drawn to the village by all the headlines appearing in newspapers concerning the LZPD and DUI arrests the past six months.

Rog said they wanted to applaud the department's efforts with arresting drunken drivers and keeping the roads safe for residents and motorists who travel on Lake Zurich roads.

Lake Zurich resident Jim Tarbet also spoke at the meeting, stating he agreed with AAIM in part, but that they were missing the real issue at hand. "This is a case where innocent people are being accused of the issue," he said.

Several Lake Zurich restaurant owners claim police officers are stopping customers who pull out of their parking lots, even if they have not been drinking, which has resulted in a loss of business. Police Chief Frederick J. Clauser claims the department is doing nothing out of the ordinary, and is not having patrolman stake out restaurant parking lots. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Police department on-line

HAWTHORN WOODS—Contacting the police department is not always the easiest thing to do if you cannot get to a phone during business hours.

That will all change for residents of Hawthorn Woods, as the village's police department has gone on-line with its own Internet web site.

The site was up and available earlier this week, and will be updated monthly, according to Sgt. Howard C. Mueller.

The department's web page is extremely thorough, as it includes biographies of each officer, a message from the chief, information on juvenile programs, DARE, community relations, frequently asked questions, Crimestoppers, ordinances, telephone and records, traffic safety and a crime prevention tip of the month.

Residents who want to ask the department questions, or give a critique of the site, can send an e-mail message to the department as well. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Mayoral debate canceled

ISLAND LAKE—The mayoral debate scheduled by the Island Lake Area Chamber of Commerce was canceled after one of the two candidates backed out of the proceedings.

Mayor Charles Amrich said the format provided by the chamber was unacceptable to his Citizens for Island Lake slate, which led to their refusal to participate.

Chamber President George Muligano spent the past weekend negotiating changes to the format for the debate, which was to be held Thursday, March 20, at Cotton Creek School. However, Amrich and his slate held their ground, which forced the chamber to cancel what would have been the only appearance by both Amrich and Beverly Anderson, the trustee trying to unseat the three-term mayor.

"The mayor was enthusiastic at the start, and has now turned his back on us," Muligano said. "It was his enthusiasm that prompted this."

Amrich said he did agree to the concept in January, but did not hear back from Muligano on the format until nearly two weeks before the forum was to be held.

Anderson said she was disappointed the mayor and his slate did not want to meet her Citizens for Open, Honest government slate in a face-to-face debate.

Her party decided to show up anyway. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

LHS board OKs land purchase

VERNON HILLS—During a special meeting Monday night, the Libertyville High School Board of Education voted to spend $3.5 million to buy 18 acres of land in Continental Executive Park in Vernon Hills.

The parcel is adjacent to the former Nike missile site, which the village is negotiating to acquire from the U.S. Navy in the hopes of developing the 165 acres into park land, open space, and athletic fields.

School Board President Laurie Meyer said the board acted quickly on the land deal in Vernon Hills because the board feared other parties may be interested in the land which would drive the costs of the property even higher.

"There's a lot of interest in this property," Meyer said. "The board took the opportunity to buy the property while it was available."

Meyer stressed the $3.5 million price tag will be paid for out of existing funds. A building referendum is expected to be presented to Dist. 128 voters in November.

In addition, a Citizens Advisory Committee is expected to conduct a survey in April to measure how much taxpayers are willing to spend for a building referendum. Those survey results are expected to be released later in the spring. —by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Three charged in stabbing

LAKE VILLA—The Lake County Sheriff's office has arrested three Round Lake Beach men in conjunction with a multiple stabbing which occurred in Lake Villa Township on March 15.

Police say the incident occurred at approximately 11:40 p.m., at a party held at 21936 7th Avenue in Lake Villa Township off Deep Lake Road.

According to police, a group of unwanted guests attempted to join the party, and this resulted in pushing, shoving and punching.

A fight with weapons later broke out when the party was declared over, police said, and the suspects tried to prevent some guests from leaving. The fight resulted in stab wounds to Ricardo and Alejandro Almanza, of Wheeling and Arlington Heights respectively.

According to police, the former victim is currently listed in serious condition at St. Therese Medical Center in Waukegan.

Arturo Paz, 19, of 1414 Chestnut Drive, was arrested on March 17 on charges of attempted murder, armed violence and two counts of Aggravated Battery, with bond set at $3 million.

Adrian Tellez, 22, of 201 Glenwood Drive, was arrested on March 18 on charges of Mob Action, Armed Violence and two counts of Aggravated Battery and has had bond set at $500,000.

A third suspect, police say, is Alberto Gomez, 20, of 1526 Lake Shore Dr. Gomez stands charged with mob action and criminal damage to property over $300, with bond set at $75,000.

All three suspects are currently in the Lake County Jail. —by JEFF PATERSON

Time for a change at Soil and Water

Forty years after they came into being, the state-wide soil and water conservation districts have changed in scope but continue to be governed by rules most Illinois citizens probably thought went out with the dark ages.

Much to the shock of many citizens, the soil and water districts do not have to comply with state election codes and boundaries, which were set in 1957, cannot be altered without the state legislature passing a law allowing a change.

The result is a county agency in which not all county residents have a vote and an election process that can't help but fall under scrutiny because the rules are less clear.

The built-in lack of accountability places the districts in a shadow of uncertainty and detracts from highlighting their worthwhile mission of soil and water conservation and prevention of erosion control.

As the only independent agency providing handling of such touchy subjects as sediment and erosion control, the soil and water conservation districts can play an important role above the fray of local politics. While supported by both state and county tax dollars, the Lake County Soil and Water District is not under the governing policy of county-wide elected officials as is the Stormwater Management Agency, whose governing board includes appointees from local municipalities as well as the county board. Its directors are elected from residents of the district but the soil and water board serves in an advisory capacity; thus district conservationists are not subject to pressure in their research and provide valuable information for property owners and prospective developers on land use.

Bringing the rules governing the soil and water districts into the 21st century is a task Lake County legislators are urged to take on.

State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa), as former house majority leader, should join forces with veteran State Rep. Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville), State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-Highland Park) as well as veteran senators Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) and Bill Peterson (R-Prairie View) to push for legislation that would force the state-wide soil and water districts to reconsider their boundaries, which have been in place since 1957, and to mandate the agency come under state election codes to prevent election fraud. As senior legislators, this five-some along with freshman representative Mark Beaubien (R-Barrington Hills) and senator Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills), can take action that will have a positive effect on all Illinois citizens.

The soil and water districts may be a good old boys network in downstate Illinois counties, but here in the collar counties, the district may provide one of the tools to ensure impending growth does not adversely impact the environment. That would be good for all of us.

Can we further imagine the $100's of millions we could have saved in the construction costs of new schools?

Later as chairman of the Land Acquisition Committee of the Forest Preserve, Graham engineered an inter-governmental agreement between the first township Open Space district and the Forest Preserve to match funds ($17 million each) and acquire another 1,500 acres of land in Libertyville township 600 of which was the Cuneo land. Because the Cuneo land was all prime farmland, he was exploring the very real possibilities of state and federal funds that would be available to help preserve that natural resource. The success of that plan would have virtually eliminated the need for the proposed $60 million Libertyville High School. He led the successful effort to block county owned sewer service to the Cuneo farmland in 1988 (at least temporarily); only to be granted later by a Depke led County Board.

I do not believe the final chapter has been written on F.T. "Mike" Graham's many other contributions to Lake County. For the public's sake and Libertyville Township, I hope not.

Arizona visit reveals Cubs much the same

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

There's a new ballpark in the desert, but otherwise things haven't changed a whole lot for our beloved Cubbies who'll be heading north in a few weeks to start another "Wait Until Next Year" chapter.

A short sojourn for a newspaper meeting in Phoenix gave your scribe an opportunity to get a sunburn and check out Cactus League activity. As usual, fans filled the new Cubs spring training home in Mesa that has an interesting feature, a green hill beyond the outfield where spectators can recline on blankets to get a sun tan and watch the game.

Cub faithful saw familiar faces—Sandberg, Grace, Dunston, McRae and Sosa, who was hitting like a mad man. They also saw this year's third base phenom, Kevin Ori, working earnestly to resemble a major league infielder, and a flock of Triple A outfielders playing musical chairs for the leftfield job. Catcher Scott Servais appeared to be his usual dependable self. I looked for pitchers, but saw mostly overweight guys throwing fluff balls. Pitching coach Phil Regan, an old favorite (remember the "Vulcher"?), was working overtime dispensing wisdom. Were any of those guys listening?

Harry was in the booth and led the singing, although "Take Me Out to the Ballgame" sounds much different drifting into the cloudless blue Arizona sky than reverberating off the venerable Wrigley grandstands and familiar buildings beyond Waveland and Sheffield Aves.

Notice anything else? Cubs have new road uniforms that sport a logo with a Cubbie bear insignia reminiscent of 1930s pennant years. Maybe an omen. Let the games begin.

MORE SPORTS—Anyone else notice how new Northwestern basketball coach Kevin O'Neill doesn't fit the "button down" NU image? Can't imagine O'Neill, who seems to prefer crumpled, over-sized tacky double-breasted suits, wearing a tweed jacket, Docker khakis, blue Oxford button down shirt, an understated necktie and loafers, the accepted Evanston campus "uniform."

And, Kevin, get a haircut! What's the scruffy mane all about? Maybe he has a thing or two to learn about big time coaching, but Ricky Birdsong always came well turned out, almost natty. Two other NU cage predecessors, Bill Foster and Rich Falk, always were fashionably presentable in the requisite North Shore tweed and button down shirt.

We won't mention the redoubtable Dutch Lonborg, legendary Wildcat hardwood mentor, who preferred sweatshirts adorned by a whistle on a piece of string. If Gary Barnett wasn't such a handsome guy, we'd almost think the NU brass is turning a new leaf with the disheveled O'Neill.

WELCOME—A hearty greeting is extended to columnist Jerry Pharr who's going to have a regular spot on these pages for his delightful combination of wit and wisdom packaged in a style that entertains and enlightens all ages. Jerry's a seasoned hand in the Lake County news business, having "done it all," as they say, including experience as a publisher. We're pleased to be sharing space with him. "Pharr Corner" is going to be a great addition to Lakeland Newspapers.

COLORFUL PLATES—Illinois soon may have the greatest variety of license plates in the nation. If enough sportsmen and sports-women request them, the state will begin offering Sport Series plates in six designs—ring-necked pheasant, Canada goose, largemouth bass, white-tailed deer, mallard duck and wild turkey.

Each plate has an initial cost of $88 with a renewal fee of $75, with $25 going for wildlife habitat restoration. A minimum 850 persons must request a sport plate before production will begin.

NO IMPACT—Undercover agents from the Lake County Sheriff's Office made some test buys after a raid netted 400 pounds of cocaine, biggest in county history. They wanted to check a hunch that street prices might shoot up after a big quantity was removed from the pipeline. "It didn't work out that way," reported Sheriff Gary Del Re, who said the reason is obvious. There are a lot of drugs out there, the sheriff lamented.

LETTERS TO THE Editor

Graham far-sighted

Editor:

During the last 30 years of involvement in local government, only a few political figures stand out. That list can be narrowed further if we confine the agenda to over-development, taxes, and the environment. The late George Bell would be on that "all star team." But the one person who perceived the inevitable link between soaring taxes, environmental destruction and over-development is F.T. "Mike" Graham.

Early during his career, he was ridiculed and criticized by many for his efforts to curb excessive development and preserve the land. He argued it was cheaper to buy the land than to build more schools and roads. At first, I was also a skeptic. As a freshmen Lake County Forest Preserve member in the early 1970's, Graham wanted to bond $55 million to purchase land. Lots of dreaded 'news'

Editor:

What is alarming and very unappreciated is Raymond T. Semple's description of mayoral candidate Allen Stubitsch as a "new resident." What could the significance of this comment possibly be? Does it make a difference how long someone has lived in our community in any matters, governmental or otherwise? Mr. Stubitsch has lived in town for about four years, hardly qualifying him as being a "new resident." He probably is as current on open issues in the village as any non-village employee.

Mr. Semple, I suggest you wake up and realize that Mundelein includes many of these dreaded "new residents," as well as lifers who disagree with your approach to representing us and our interests. Remember, you work for us "all" the residents of Mundelein, and none else. It is your responsibility to represent all residents, not just a few that may happen to serve your personal interests. You should start behaving accordingly.

Having seen your approach towards Mundelein citizens first-hand over the past two years, I want to thank you for publicly sharing your opinion of us. I'm sure it will be remembered.

Keep full-time status

Editor:

I'm looking for an answer to a question that recently occurred to me concerning the mayoral election of Lake Zurich. From what I know and understand, Mayor Vassels is a full-time mayor, having no other employment or interests. From what I've read, Mr. Krischke is a partner in a business. If elected, would that make him a part-time mayor?

I'm sure a mayor doesn't sit in their office all day long waiting for phone calls. But, will both candidates be accessible all day? It seems to me that a responsible mayor of any village or city could serve the people better by not being burdened with the demands and responsibilities that must accompany running a private business.

In short, the business of being mayor is a full-time job.

Cheesehead happy as a lark in Lakeland

It was 23 years ago, 1974, President Nixon was forced to resign because of Watergate, "The Sting," co-starring Newman and Redford, was the Oscar-winning movie, O.J. Simpson was the National Football League's offensive player of the year and Brett Favre was 4-years-old.

Twenty-three years ago this month I hid my cheese-wedge hat in the trunk of my car, bought a Chicago Bears sweatshirt and slipped through the Cheddar Curtain that separates the sane and sensible people of Illinois from those wacky Wisconsinites.

I had come to administer journalism at a weekly newspaper, the then 88-year-old Antioch News. Five years later that venerable journal was acquired by Lakeland Newspapers and became known as the Antioch News-Reporter. I went to work elsewhere for 18 years, lending my unflagging dedication, enormous talent and killer good looks to a daily paper.

(My wife shakes her head and says, "I hope no one takes you seriously.") Well, that WOULD be a switch.

Anyway, today I am back, writing again for the Antioch paper, plus the 12 other weeklies in the impressive Lakeland

Newspapers fold — take a deep breath — the Lake Zurich Enterprise, the Lake Villa Record, the Mundelein News, the Grayslake Times, the Fox Lake Press, the Round Lake News — grab some more air — the Gurnee Press, the Wauconda Leader, the Libertyville News, the Lindenhurst News,

THE PFARR CORNER

JERRY PFARR

the Vernon Hills News and the Wadsworth News!

A newspaper junkie, I just love reciting that litany. Call me old-fashioned but I think every town deserves its own up-close and personal paper. Lakeland Newspapers is seeing to that in Lake County.

Once a cheesehead always a cheesehead, I suppose, but cozy Lake County has become home-sweet-home to my family in the years we've lived here.

Except for the aggravating traffic gridlock as thousands of new homes are built but no new roads, the creature comforts are considerable. As Shakespeare said, "It don't get much better than this."

I kid you, of course. Shakespeare said it more eloquently: "All places that the eye of heaven visits are to a wise man ports and happy havens."

And it is heavenly here. Bill Brook, a banker and outdoorsman, for many years the patriarch of the Antioch community, described in a 1992 centennial book what his corner of Lake County meant to him:

"I have spent my entire life in Antioch, loving every bit of it. Can you imagine how happy our earliest residents (the Native Americans) must have been with this location?

"If people should try to convince you that all small towns are alike, invite them to visit us. They will see some of the caring and concerned society I was exposed to as a very young person. Concerns and circumstances may change, but the fine quality of life that is Antioch goes on and on — may it ever be so."

I think that fits each of the Lakeland communities we cover. Growth has had its impact, of course. Lake Villa, for example, is no longer just a suburb of Antioch, and Hainesville is about to become much more than a speed trap near Grayslake. A lot of water and beer cans have flowed under that Fox Lake bridge.

In 1974, the average income was $14,000; you could buy a new house for $35,000 and a new car for $4,000.

I can't believe it's been 23 years.

"Deal with it," says my wife. "Time flies when you're having fun."

Since this is home to me now, it's nice to know I've been accepted. I learned that for sure last summer at a community picnic. One of the village fathers introduced me to a newcomer, like I once was. He told the fellow, "Jerry is a nice guy."

"Don't tell him that," I said. "You know I can be a real doofus."

"Yeah, yeah," said the village father, "but you're OUR doofus."

What a heartwarming compliment! No wonder I have embraced the Land of Lincoln and left behind the Land of Lombardi.

See you here next Friday.

Dissection alternative

Editor:

Better education at lower cost. That is what is offered by the proposed Dissection Alternatives Act (Illinois Senate Bill 271).

Instead of the antiquated, ineffective method of trying to teach science through animal dissection, Senate Bill 271 provides for the use of alternatives. Computer models and other high-tech tools are available on loan to schools at no cost. Teachers who are unaware of alternative methods or who insist on clinging to outmoded practices are simply not up to speed.

Senate Bill 271 is applicable to public and nonpublic elementary, secondary, and undergraduate schools, and gives Illinois students and teachers the right to refuse, without penalty, all involvement in animal dissection. Students would instead perform alternative assignments provided by their teachers.

Park unaffordable

Editor:

The proposed Hunt Club Leisure Park will meet with the approval of many of the residents of Gurnee.

After all the presentations, and all the glitz, we will find that the cost of maintaining the park will be our responsibility. Aside from the $60 to $80 increase in our real estate taxes, holding membership will cost from $45 per month. As for me, this is unaffordable.

The Leisure Center will benefit families making $100,000, and those not on Social Security.

I do not feel everyone totally understands the ramifications of the proposed referendum. Should we accept the tax proposed? There are those unsure how this expensive park will effect their incomes and savings. If all are in favor of a luxury, we will be able to live happy ever after. Regardless of the costs. Don't forget to vote.

Mayor not upfront

Editor:

There is certainly a great deal of discussion over whether or not the Lake Zurich tax payers should spend less than $50,000 to assist in the dredging of the lake. Although this is an important issue, I am wondering why residents are not up in arms about the proposed renovations to or erection of a new police facility. This project, proposed by Mayor Vasels in her bid for reelection, follows closely on the heels of the public works project that cost taxpayers over $3 million. As a village resident, I am annoyed that I was never informed that the police facility was a factor when plans were made to erect the new public works facility. It seems like Mayor Vasels is not being upfront with her plans for the village.

Critical of mudslinging

Editor:

It is unfortunate that in Lake Villa Township, some people have to resort to mudslinging and misinformation during election campaigns.

I personally know the Key Party candidates. Their record of accomplishments are impressive and evident. These honest, hard working, and ethical individuals keep their campaign focused on their positive platform. They will make sure our tax dollars are used in a most cost efficient manner while working to provide the best programs and services that the law will allow.

If you have any questions or concerns, go to the township, as I did. Don't just listen to rumors, find out the answers for yourself. Make the extra effort, you owe it to yourself to be an informed voter.

PARTY LINES

Assessor races grab political spotlight

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

Competition for township assessor is drawing sparks in more than a few places this spring.

Normally, a placid, techno-driven position loaded down with state requirements, some assessor contestants are swinging haymakers right and left in the quest for votes.

Incumbent Lake Villa Township Assessor Kathy Kane has targeted ire at Supervisor Sue Hanson instead of her opponent, Bob Schmidt, a real estate appraiser. But he might be next because his wife, County Board Rep. Suzi Schmidt, is a friend of Hanson.

In Ela Township (Lake Zurich), businessman and political leader John Schweda has been taking raps from incumbent Assessor Patricia Hoffman over lack of qualifications and experience. Schweda, who is certified, is about as well known as anyone from his background as fire chief, school board member and two runs for mayor.

In Warren Township, where veteran Assessor Joe Dada is retiring, Thomas Cooperider and Carol Stried, have been engaged in polite sparring. They could be drawn into the heated battle over supervisor.

In Antioch Township, Deputy Assessor Heather Kufalk Marotta is claiming an edge over Michael Mueller, who says the office has been inattentive to the problems of individual taxpayers.

No holds are being barred in Libertyville Township where former Deputy Assessor Peggy Boyes Freese responded to her holiday firing from the assessor's office by running against incumbent Dennis Jagla, who won four years ago in an expensive campaign directed by activist Jack Martin.

Freese says Jagla is incompetent; that she, in fact, did the heavy lifting as his understudy. Martin countered with a charge that the former deputy gave herself favorable treatment on her home assessment. Not backing down, Freese asserts that Martin is directing affairs for Jagla, who operated a painting business before being elected four years ago.

Feisty Freese is no novice in politics. Her mother, Mary, is a former Libertyville village clerk. Her family is considered "old time" in a community marked by rapid change in recent years.

Vernon, Avon and Grant are among the Lake County townships where assessors are uncontested.

Gazebo caper—When is a gazebo not a gazebo? Lincolnshire officials have decided that the popular lawn structure is not a gazebo when it's a square building with windows that contains Greg Lifschultz' hot tub.

Trustees are rewriting "the book" on Lincolnshire gazebos to prevent repetition of the Lifschultz controversy where his hot tub enclosure met current standards, but did not conform with aesthetic conceptions of latticework, open air and Victorian theme. Oh, yes. The new Lincolnshire gazebo code will also require an octagonal shape.

Grassroots support

Grayslake mayoral candidate Gunta Hudac and trustee candidate Cheryl Doros have both garnered the endorsement of the Grayslake Action Alliance in the April 1 election. The Action Alliance is a non-partisan, grassroots organization of citizens in the Grayslake area who are concerned about the effects of over-development on the environment, traffic congestion, overcrowded schools and high taxes. Both candidates also received the endorsement of the Lake County Conservation Alliance.

• • •

Green candidate—The McHenry County Conservation Voters have endorsed Kim Hawley's candidacy for trustee in Island Lake. Conservation groups have made a point of getting involved in local politics over the past several years to lend support for candidates they believe will work to ensure environmental protection as growth continues to impede.

• • •

Record breaker—Speaking of Island Lake politics, even Mayor Charles Amrich was even surprised by the turnout at his March 3 fund-raiser which brought nearly 300 well-wishers to Sideouts in the village. The event was a two county affair among the well knowns were McHenry County Republican Chairman Al Jourdan and Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson.

• • •

Lending support—Former Grayslake Mayor Ed Schroeder is endorsing two candidates in the crowded race for Grayslake Park District Board of Commissioners which has 11 candidates vying for five openings. Schroeder has given his stamp of approval to Mary Jane Lucas and Dr. Ross Goodrich.

• • •

Around the country—Bob Neal is sticking his nose into the Newport Township elections. He is endorsing Tom Pawlak for supervisor saying it's not even a question of whether he would support incumbent Mildred Corder.

Neal believes Corder's statement that her record speaks for itself doesn't mean much. The township seniors lunch he noted was started before she was in office and improved roads in the township he believes are the work of Road Commissioner Kevin Zupke.

For the township board he is endorsing Alan Eppers and Richard Galgan. Neal's endorsements for the Wadsworth Village Board include Gary Penrith, Betty Rae Kaiser and Evelyn Hoselton.

Corder is allying herself with trustee candidates Richard Schwery, Candy Nannini and David Mackie, the only non-incumbent.

Depke to keep taxes down

Editor:

Warren Township's programs must be preserved and Shawn Depke is the best person for the job. To Shawn's credit, he is a director of the Warren Newport Credit Union. Shawn understand complex governmental finance because of his work at the Illinois Dept. of Revenue.

I am voting for Shawn and urge voters who care about the township to cast their votes for Shawn. Warren Township needs a manager that will keep our present township senior and youth services the best in the state, without increasing our taxes. We don't want or need additional programs which are already provided by other taxing bodies. It will unnecessarily increase our taxes. Anyone who lives within the boundaries of Warren Township knows we don't need higher taxes.

A vote for Shawn Depke, if anything else, is a vote to keep our taxes down without the creation of costly programs.

Mayor changes stance

Editor:

I belonged to many of the same environmental and tax watchdog groups as current Grayslake Mayor Pat Carey. We were oft-times labeled mavericks because of our controversial anti-growth, anti-tax and pro-environmental stance.

Like myself, many others in these groups worked diligently to get Pat elected to trustee and then to mayor. Whether our help was solicited or not, our votes certainly were.

Although, I have been inactive for some time, I don't have my head in the sand. I firmly believe that Carey has used these groups as a means to get elected and no longer stands for the principals for which I helped her. We must again select a candidate who will return the Village of Grayslake to the once conservative and environmentally concerned community it was. Putting status quo aside, my vote will go to Gunta Hadac for mayor of Grayslake.

'Nothing' ever happens

Editor:

At a supervisors meeting of the Libertyville Township Board of Trustees, Ralph Swank surprised the public when he announced he was calling off a public hearing because two of the trustees were absent. Although he still had a quorum, he told the public in attendance, that the board had a policy that "nothing important" would ever be discussed when there wasn't a full board present.

According to an article written by Joe Soulak of Lakeland Newspapers, that was not always the case. At the August of 1991 meeting, nothing important was on the published agenda, so two trustees took the night off. In what must have been an after thought, Libertyville Township gave the soccer league $500,000 on a 3-0 vote of the board, with only Trustees Hartman and Moran present. It appears that $500,000 does not meet Swank's standards as being important enough to have a full board present for a meeting.

Jagla doing a fine job

Editor:

I am really appalled to read all of these negative articles submitted to the press by a bunch of vindictive employees of the assessor's office, slamming the fine job that Dennis Jagla is doing for the residents of Libertyville township. I am a local resident and the nature of my business takes me into the assessor's office quite frequently. I can honestly say that since Dennis Jagla has taken over the operations of the assessor's office, I have noticed a marked improvement in service and the quality of the assessments. The office has been modernized with up-to-date assessment technology, the staff is experienced and knowledgeable, and an information I need is always accurate and up-to-date.

Much has also been mentioned in this negative campaign launched by Candidate Freese, telling me that my tax bills are higher because of errors made by Assessor Dennis Jagla. Well, all I can say is that my tax bill doesn't appear to be out of line or higher than it should be, and I am not willing to take any chances with a candidate who doesn't have any track record or experience as an assessor.

Everyday citizen running

Editor:

Have we lost sight of the importance in voting? The opportunity to voice our opinions is a privilege and even more importantly our duty. Voting allows us to elect officials to justly serve our community and keep the people's best interests in mind and not their own. It is time to vote into office the everyday citizen and not the typical "Politician."

On April 1, elections across Lake County will take place. In Libertyville Township the voters are given a great opportunity to elect the everyday citizen. Seeking township positions: Patricia P. Thomas, business woman and above all parent, Frank K. Underbrink a teacher at Libertyville High School, and John T. Wagener lawyer, husband, and parent, are three actively involved people looking for a change in government. Together they teamed up with Pamela M. Milroy who is currently a trustee on the township board and is running for supervisor.

These four dedicated individuals are known as the Open Slate. They believe in "open space," which we all know is a pressing issue in our area, as well as "open government," creating government that is open to the people.

Where are officials?

Editor:

On Monday, March 10, the Libertyville Township Supervisor, Ralph Swank cancelled the final budget and appropriations meeting. Swank cited an agreement made among board members not to discuss or vote on anything unless all were present. Two trustees were absent because of personal reasons.

Now the next meeting is tentatively scheduled "after" the election. The budget will have to wait until then and so will our questions. Mr. Highway Commissioner, can you answer a question? Oh, he is gone, too.

Center critical to growth

Editor:

The Gurnee Park District was criticized for spending money in promoting the proposed Hunt Club Leisure Center. The Park District proposal is based on citizen input. It is a project that will meet the needs of a growing community. The park district has an obligation to educate and inform the community as to what the project is, what it will cost and, most importantly, what services and programs it will allow the park district to offer. I would be more concerned about a park district that didn't spend the time, effort and money to properly inform the community on an issue as important as this one.

Like it or not, Gurnee is growing and will continue to grow. The reason is simple. This community is balanced in its design and offers families a wide variety of housing, work and recreational opportunities. The Hunt Club Leisure Center is critical to this growth. I urge the entire community to become aware of what their vote will mean on April 1.

Tekampe best for Fremont

Editor:

Katherine Pannhausen has been telling folks her experience on the Fremont School Board will make her a good choice for Fremont Township supervisor in the April 1 election. My review of Mrs. Pannhausen's record as a board member leads me to the opposite opinion regarding her qualifications.

I find that Pannhausen has never voted no as a board member. Some of her yes votes have been to build administrative offices detached from the one school building in the district. This separate building cost about $500,000. Mrs. Pannhausen has voted the superintendent an $8,000 bonus on top of his contract in excess of $100,000 per year. And, this bonus was approved by Pannhausen in a school which has no merit pay or bonus payments for its most essential employees, its teachers.

I believe the choice in Fremont Township is a very easy one. Vote for Pete Tekampe. He knows our money is real and he will continue to be a frugal, yet effective, supervisor for Fremont Township.

Vernon Hills courts envy

Editor:

I am writing to express my support for the re-election of Roger Byrne as Vernon Hills village president, and Rich Cashman, Don Hook, and Tom Koch as Vernon Hills village trustees.

Vernon Hills, much to the chagrin of some of our neighbors is the envy of many communities. Vernon Hills is managed well in all aspects. Our financial strength is legendary. City services are not just adequate they are exemplary. Our police force is nationally recognized. Our school districts benefit from a close relationship with our city government which results in the highest level of financial support from the city, businesses and developers in the state. Businesses seek us out to do business here, we do not go seeking them. We dictate terms to developers, they do not dictate to us. In short we shape our own future. Instead of reacting to problems we anticipate them and deal with them in a correct manner.

Beneficial change

Editor:

"You're moving to Mundelein?", said my shocked neighbors in Lincolnshire five years ago. What about the schools, the parks, the crime rate, the community? You're giving all this up to move to Mundelein? For goodness sake— Mundelein has gangs.

"Mundelein is changing," I said. "Mundelein has a mayor with a "plan" for the village. The police department, the parks and recreation department, the village offices, the schools, they all have specific plans to improve and grow the community." They laughed at me, and said, "Come on, Mundelein is just an old farm town." Thanks to the current administration, this old farm town has earned two Hometown Awards from the Governor's office in the past two years.

Police Chief Rose has eliminated gangs from Mundelein's streets, the schools are top-notch, the parks and recreation department continues to offer more and more to the residents of our village, we are a part of the METRA rail system, and the reputation of Mundelein continues to prosper. Project CAPE, Mundelein Pride, A-MAY-Zing Mundelein, the DARE program, Neighborhood Watch, and upgraded police and fire services all have been initiatives of Mayor Sindles and her Village Board. As a volunteer for Project CAPE and A-MAY-Zing Mundelein, I have seen the positive effects of the Mayor's programs to our community. To keep Mundelein in its current positive direction, we must vote for Mayor Sindles and the Dedicated to Mundelein slate.

Slow down home growth

Editor:

With Governor Edgar proposing new budget cuts in the state's transportation budget and the Chicago Area Transportation Study (CATS) proposing no major road improvements for our area, I think it is imperative that the towns which rely on Routes 176 and 31 work together for the benefit of all.

This is not the first time that we have been overlooked or taken a back seat to other areas. Western Lake County and Eastern McHenry County is one of the fastest growing regions in the state with the population projected to grow by another 40 plus percent by the year 2020. Traffic is already a problem and we can expect it to get worse, much worse, given the state's current priorities do not include our region.

The collective municipalities will need to work together to lobby the state for additional funding, pool our resources for joint road improvement projects, and aggressively plan to slow down residential growth via larger lot size requirements for residential development and agricultural protection zones. I just hope everyone will see the same need for this cooperation.

Go back to basics

Editor:

Wendy Tepper is recommended as trustee in Warren Township. She comes from a business family who has been actively involved in politics for many years. To date Wendy is a business woman in her own right. Besides being a wife and mother, and also serving as a district liaison for Congressman Philip Crane, and a volunteer for other political entities.

Personally speaking, such old-fashioned attributes as honesty, integrity, and character are so often lost along with the heart of a human. However, Wendy possesses these characteristics that stem deep from within and in no way are superficial attributes. She has the loving support of her husband and daughter and some history in the community adding to her wisdom. Let's bring our life back to the simple basics and give Wendy Tepper and Sue Simpson a vote in that direction.

Mis-stating education

Editor:

This is in response to the letter of March 7, written by Helen Strzalka, regarding the "Hunter safety course" which was conducted by the Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources at the grounds of the Northern Illinois Conservation Club.

One of the primary goals of the NICC is education of nature in all its forms and conservation and preservation of nature's own balance.

Safety of hunters and the general public are a major concern of the Northern Illinois Conservation Club and the Illinois Dept. of natural resources which is why we provided our facilities for all who share our concerns.

The Illinois "Hunter Safety Course" is a mandatory requirement for persons born after 1980 to purchase a hunting license here. Hunting is a legal sport, as are fishing, hiking, swimming and water sports, etc. and we all have the lawful right to choose our preference.

Most important is that we should be trained and equipped to enjoy our choice safely.

To put education in the "crass" classification of monetary motivation does an injustice to the law abiding people of Illinois, the Illinois Department of natural resources and the NICC who are concerned for all our citizens.

Small business problems: Government isn't the solution

Recently, a friend of mine who owns his own business was telling me about some of the problems he was having. He said his business reminded him of the old Everly Brothers' tune titled, "Problems." The lyrics are: "Problems, problems, problems all day long. Will my problems work out right or wrong? Worries, worries pile upon my head. Woe is me, I should have stayed in bed."

Most of us have had a few days like that. It certainly isn't getting any easier to be in business today. Competition is increasing, technology is exploding and good employees are getting harder to find and keep. Throw in a few other obstacles such as finicky customers, government paperwork and skyrocketing costs and you're going to have some stressful days and nights.

My discussion of business problems with my friends was still fresh in my mind when I received a publication from The National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB). The study is titled, "Small Business Problems and Priorities." I read it with a great deal of interest. The purpose of the study was to allow small-business owners to assess the relative importance of potential problems.

The survey said

Based on the responses of more than 3,400 NFIB members and small-business owners the 10 most severe challenges for small businesses today are: 1. The cost of health insurance, 2. Federal taxes on business income, 3. Worker's compensation costs, 4. Unreasonable government regulations, 5. FICA (Social Security taxes), 6. Property taxes/rent costs, 7. Federal paperwork, 8. State taxes on business income, 9. Frequent changes in federal tax laws, and 10. Cash flow.

You will notice that competition, employees and technology issues didn't make the top 10. Competition from large businesses came in at 23rd, keeping skilled employees ranked 29th, training came in at 33rd, and technology issues surfaced in position number 39.

It is obvious from the survey results that small-business owners are more concerned about the effect of government on their business than competition and other elements. You will notice that eight of the top 10 problems are directly associated with government intervention and regulation.

Small-business owners see federal, state or local governments as barriers to survival. Taxes, regulations and paperwork are cutting a heavy chunk out of profitability.

Lake County teenage artists 'get framed'

A young visitor gets a sneak preview of 'The Creative Self Expression Show' displaying artwork from Libertyville and Warren Twp. High School students. The show opens April 10 at The Great Frame Up in Vernon Hills.

Art students at Libertyville High School and Warren Twp. High School in Gurnee will be having their own art show at The Great Frame Up, art and picture framing store, at 278 Hawthorn Village Commons in Vernon Hills. Libertyville's show is slated for April 10 and Warren's starts on Tuesday, May 6, for a week.

IMC Agribusiness to acquire major Midwestern storage terminal operator

IMC Global Inc., Northbrook, retail and wholesale business unit, IMC Agribusiness Inc., has signed a letter of intent to acquire the fertilizer assets of Hutson's Ag Services, Inc. and Hutson Company, Inc., which together form a major Midwestern retail farm center and storage terminal company with annual revenues of approximately $110 million. Terms of the potential acquisition were not disclosed.

The two privately-owned businesses, founded in 1928, are headquartered in Murray, Kentucky. Hutson's Ag Services, Inc., consists of 14 retail farm centers—three in southern Illinois, six in western Kentucky and five in western Tennessee. Hutson Company, Inc. includes seven strategically located dry and liquid terminals in Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky with a combined storage capacity of about 250,000 tons of crop nutrient products.

"The acquisition of Hutson's retail units fits very well with our overall strategy of selective expansion in the Midwestern and Southeastern U.S., in which we aim to increase same-store sales and market share and more fully leverage our value-added line of products and services," said Robert M. VanPatten, senior vice president of IMC Global and president of IMC Agribusiness. "Additionally, Hutson's terminals will allow for even more efficient delivery of materials to many of our existing FARMARKET units and independent dealer customers."

The proposed acquisition would increase the number of IMC Agribusiness retail farm centers to about 240, including 30 in Illinois, 10 in Kentucky and 11 in Tennessee. In addition, IMC Agribusiness would operate a total of 14 terminals with a combined storage capacity of about 600,000 tons of liquid and dry product.

The proposed acquisition is subject to customary conditions, including due diligence and execution of a definitive purchase agreement approved by both companies. The transaction is targeted to close by early May.

helping art teachers facing school budget cuts, to stimulate student interest.

Libertyville and Warren Twp. are just two of 20 Chicago area high schools participating in this Creative Self-Expression Program, sponsored by The Great Frame Up, a nationwide chain with 130 stores in 30 states. There are 16 Chicagoland stores involved.

According to Tara McGrath the program coordinator for the chain, "The Great Frame Up champions creativity on all levels—the program supports our mission by providing students with an artistic environment that fosters fun and self-expression," this in the face of budget cuts in classes devoted to the arts, lack of funds for basic supplies and a shrinking amount of space for students to display their work.

The Vernon Hills store adopted the art departments of the two high schools, which included donating mat board, art portfolio cases for all the art students, plus Creative Self Expression T-shirts for those participating in school art shows.

The Creative Self Expression Shows to be held starting on April 10 and May 6, are juried art exhibitions of the students' art work. This gives art students at the two schools a chance to have their work exhibited in another place besides the school art show.

Along with receiving a Certificate of Recognition, those art students participating in the show will receive specially-designed invitations to ask teachers, family and friends to a VIP reception at the Vernon Hills Great Frame Up on the first night. Five students, selected as Best of Show winners, will receive cash awards of $50 each.

Gregg's Landing sales top 30 percent in two month's time

Zale Homes' new Inverness neighborhood at Gregg's Landing in Vernon Hills is already 30 percent sold out.

"We've had a fabulous start with more than 40 contracts and deposits taken since we opened in November," said Jill Lieberman, sales manager at Inverness.

The only maintenance-free single-family neighborhood currently under development at the 1,000-acre master-planned community, Inverness as planned features a total of 134 brick and cedar-sided two-story homes. Of this total, approximately one-third feature premium pond or White Deer Run Golf Course views.

Available in four 2,245 to 2,806 square foot plans, each Inverness home comes complete with two-bedrooms-plus-loft, three-bedrooms-plus-loft or four bedrooms and two-and-one-half baths (three-and one-half baths optional per plan).

Also included in base-prices ranging from $294,500 to $317,400 (all prices are subject to change without notice) are full basements, central air-conditioning, attached two-car garages and a fully-landscaped, maintenance-free homesite.

According to Lieberman, the maintenance-free feature has been an extremely strong selling point with the vast majority of early buyers.

"Essentially, we've had two distinct groups of buyers—empty nesters and busy, double-income professionals."

The empty nesters, she said, are primarily single-family homeowners from the north, North Shore and northwest suburbs—many of whom formerly lived on acreage—who now want to scale down maintenance but not luxury.

Likewise, the young professionals purchasing at Inverness also want luxury with as little maintenance as possible.

"Virtually all of them have demanding professions requiring either long hour or lots of travel."

Ross Shellenberger, head of Libertyville's art department, said "The kids are really excited about the show, this is a great program. Sophomore, junior and senior art students are involved."

According to Joe Tobin, art teacher at Warren, "This will be a whole new avenue for the art students to explore. We intend to make this a senior art show with eight to 10 seniors exhibiting work done in their four years in art. It is our understanding that 25 pieces will be chosen to be in the show." Tobin added that a parent of an art student, Patricia Lystila, gets the credit for bringing the program to the school's attention.

David Klitz, president and founder of The Great Frame Up, and Marlowe, his wife, owners of the Vernon Hills Great Frame Up said, "We have implemented this program because we believe the arts play an important role in education and we will do all we can to show high school artists that we support them and their creativity."

One of the best things about the Creative Self Expression Program is that it not only showcases the work of talented art students, but also provides opportunities and incentives for those who take an individual art class in addition to their core studies, fostering creativity in all students, helping bring local art into the business community, and enhancing the company's belief that "art should not be regarded as a privilege, but rather as a fundamental part of the high school education."

Small Business

both political parties espoused a lot of rhetoric about the growing deficit. Congress creates the deficit when it spends more than it takes in. The deficit, although the beneficiary of a lot of attention, is only a symptom. The real problem is spending.

Government spending is outstripping the ability of the private sector to pay the bill. In 1991, Federal budget outlays weighed in at a hefty $1.32 trillion. In 1997, federal spending is expected to top $1.7 trillion. This increase in spending of $380 billion equals

$1,460 in new taxes collected from every citizen of the U.S. For working Americans, who ultimately get the bill, our free-spending Congress has increased our personal tax burden by $3,000—5,000 annually.

Growth in spending creates other problems as well. As regulatory agencies grow, the burden of regulations, paperwork, reporting and compiling costs also grow. Bureaucrats have to produce something, and most of what they produce is an added burden for the private sector.

One thing is certain: The problem of government encroachment won't go away by itself. It is time to get a grip on spending. Most business problems will improve with lower government spending. Write your legislators today. Let them know we want to spend less, not pay more.

Windsor debuts all-new models at Fairway Greens

Windsor Development Corporation recently hosted a model grand opening at Fairway Greens in Antioch.

A new townhome community framed by the fairways and greens of the picturesque Antioch Golf Course, Fairway Greens is currently featuring three brand new floor plans designed expressly for the new 86-home community. The three new models include:

The Bayhill

A 1,363 square foot two-story, the Bayhill features a spacious foyer, volume living room, adjoining volume dining room and a large eat-in kitchen on the first floor. On the second floor are a master bedroom with walk-in closet, full hall bath, sitting room/second bedroom and dramatic loft overlooking the dining room below. The Bayhill is base priced from $139,900 (all prices are subject to change without notice) including a full basement, an attached two-car garage, central air-conditioning, and a deck.

The Cantigny

Another two-story, the 1,520 square foot Cantigny opens to a large angled foyer. Other first-floor highlights include a two-story living room, open formal dining room and side-by-side kitchen/breakfast room. A spacious master suite with oversized private bath, a second luxury bath and an 11 1/2-foot by 12-foot secondary bedroom are featured upstairs. The Cantigny is base priced from $149,900 (three bedroom version available from $153,600) including a full basement, an attached two-car garage, central air-conditioning, and a deck.

The Augusta

The largest of the three plans, the Augusta offers 1,527 square feet of living space. A mirror image of the Bayhill on the first floor, the Augusta also comes complete with a large foyer, volume living room, formal (but not volume) dining room and a spacious eat-in kitchen. The second floor, however, has been expanded to include a larger master suite, larger secondary bedroom, larger loft and an additional full bath. The Augusta is base priced from $148,900 including a full basement, an attached two-car garage, central air-conditioning, and a deck.

According to Sharon Glusica, sales manager at Fairway Greens, two of the three models—The Augusta and Cantigny—feature fully-furnished interiors designed by Bonni Morris of Chicago-based B. Morris interiors.

"We left the Bayhill model unfurnished so buyers could get an up-close-and-personal look at the quality construction built into all three plans," Glusica said.

For more information, call (847) 838-0595 or visit the on-site sales center and new models. To reach Fairway Greens, take Rte. 59 north to Harbor Ridge Drive (less than one-quarter mile south of Grass Lake Road) and turn left (west). Follow Harbor Ridge Drive through the Antioch Golf Club to the sales center and models located at 3975 N. Tee Side Crt. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

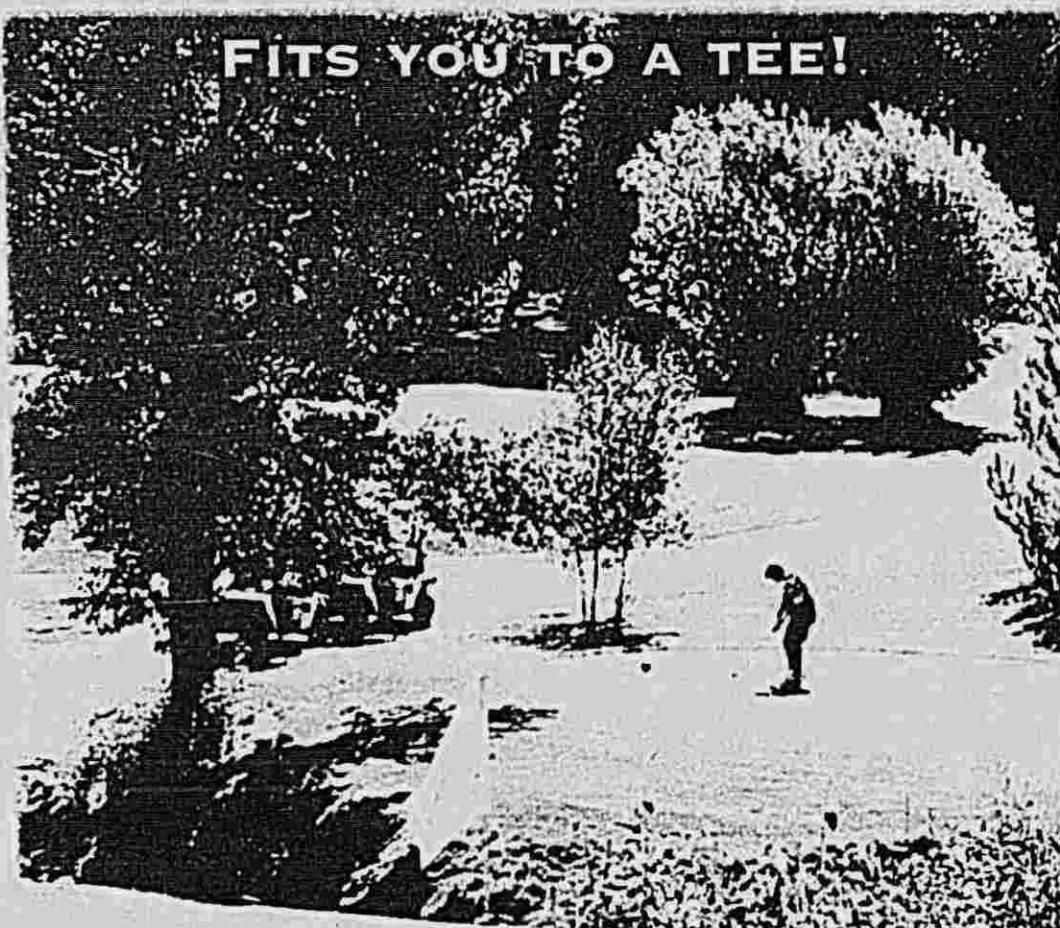

The largest of the three plans, the Augusta offers 1,527 square feet of living space. The Augusta also comes complete with a large foyer, volume living room, formal dining room and a spacious eat-in kitchen. Available at Fairway Greens in Antioch.

All American Roofing

tops in industry

Jack Taitter, owner and operator of All American Roofing, located at 550 Telser Rd. in Lake Zurich, brings 22 years of experience in the roofing and siding industries to customers.

All American's well-trained staff is well-known for serving both residential and commercial clients' needs quickly and professionally. They install all types of residential roof materials, including standard 3-tab shingles, laminated architectural shingles, cedar shingles, concrete tile and slate.

Reynolds and Alcoa, two of the siding industry's biggest names, are popular with All American's customers for both aluminum and vinyl siding. Installing aluminum soffit and fascia eliminates the need of scraping and painting.

All American's commercial roofing and sheet metal division offers all types of conventional built up roofing systems, as well as single ply EPDM Roof Systems. Firestone Roofing Systems has recently recognized All American's commitment to quality by presenting them with the President's Club Award.

Repeat customers and positive recommendations attest to the quality of All American's work. All American's office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 8 to 11 a.m. on Saturday. All jobs are done by contract, call (847)438-4131 for a free estimate.

FREMONT PUBLIC LIBRARY

is in the information business

The Fremont Public Library, located at 470 N. Lake St., in Mundelein, is in the reading and information business, so to speak, offering 67,253 unique items for this purpose, from books, to compact discs, video and audio cassettes, even starting on CD ROM programs, and much, much more.

The library's director and head librarian is Kelly Krieg-Sigman. The Children's Library has three full time and three part time staff members to serve the first step customers from 22 months to two years of age, through Jr. High School. The summer reading programs are very popular.

The library offers inter-library loans, having the ability to get material on a national basis. Six computers with local networks are available which allow the customer access to multiple CD ROM programs: the OPAC (On Line Public Access Catalogue) and Info-Trac Magazine index. Inter Net access will be available by summer of 1997.

With the addition of expanded adult programs and the new Sunday Afternoon in the Library Concert Series, the library is now offering more and more activities for patrons of all ages and interests.

Remodeling was completed in August of 1996 with the addition of a new Circulation Desk and an Information and Reference Area.

For excellent carpet cleaning call Mike Davignon, Bonnie Perry, Lee Kraft, Chris Williams, David Creiger or Jim Fox at Dick's Carpet Service.

Carpet, upholstery cleaning at its best

Remember when carpets and upholstery never looked quite the same after they were cleaned? Dick's Carpet Service, located at 39070 Green Bay Rd. in Beach Park, uses a revolutionary cleaning process that keeps those valuable carpets and your favorite upholstery looking as good as new.

According to Mike Davignon, who has 31 years of carpet cleaning knowledge to offer customers, the use of a van mounted cleaning system, the Ban-Clene Process, is the secret, one recommended by most carpet manufacturers.

This is a warm water extraction process which uses over 99 percent water to clean your favorite carpet, leaving no residue to draw dirt. Extracting 95 percent of the cleaning solution from your carpet leaves it practically dry when the process is finished. The solution used is biodegradable and non-toxic, so it is safe for children and pets.

A speed drying system is implemented during humid weather and deodorization is done when necessary. A quality control call will be made the day after the cleaning to insure excellent service.

Oriental and area rugs will be picked up, cleaned at the plant and returned. Dick's also offers water damage restoration, as well as upholstery dry cleaning. Each customer receives free lifetime spot cleaner refills.

Dick's Carpet Service offers three distinct packages to fit most carpet-cleaning needs: the Value Added Service Pkg., the Protector Guarantee Pkg., and the Always Clean Maintenance Service Pkg.

Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday. Work hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. with special evening hours available Monday through Saturday if requested. Call (847)746-3332 for more information.

Ahlstrand Marine carries enough boats to supply an Army!

Ahlstrand Marine stocks enough canoes, boats and paddle boats to supply a small army (Ahlstrand has already supplied the "Navy" at Great Lakes Naval Training Center).

It all started back in 1974 on Milwaukee Avenue in Wheeling. Specializing in custom fishing boats, Ahlstrand outgrew their Wheeling facility and moved to their present location in 1984. At 1300 Town Line Rd., Mundelein, Ahlstrand continued with fishing boats and added runabouts (fiberglass aluminum) as well as paddle boats, canoes and a greatly expanded display of boating accessories and supplies. To service what they sell, an eight bay service center was added shortly after the move to Mundelein.

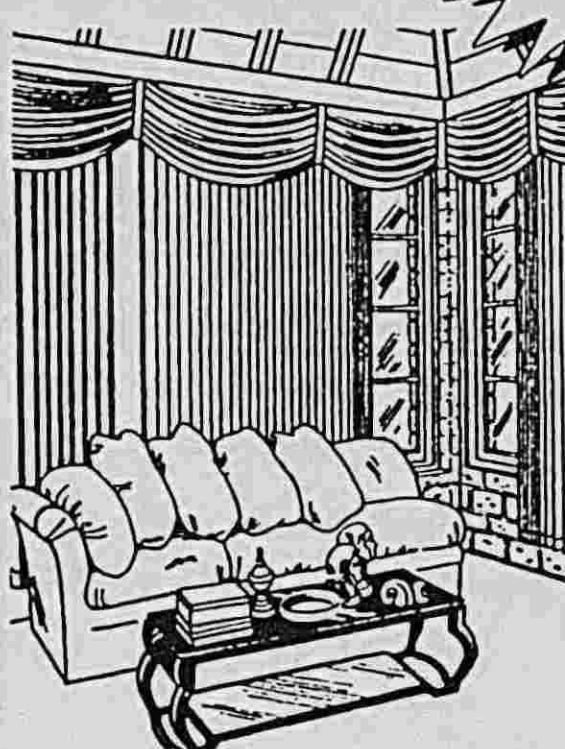

Stop by any day but Monday and see what Ahlstrand Marine has to offer, or call them at (847)949-8899 to get downloaded on their specials.

Rodriguez keeps juggling job, coaching, radio gig

Alan Rodriguez, an investment broker for A.G. Edwards and Son in Chicago helps kids make real money every year.

Making it his business to teach business, he leads a course called applied economics at Addison Trail High School. The students issue share in a company, then engage in various business activities to make the value grow. The students have a strong sense of ownership in their company, he said.

At the end of the year, the company is dissolved and the money distributed. "Last year our class made about $35 a share," he added.

Through a similar program called Project Business, Rodriguez works with eighth graders at Palisades Middle School in Burr Ridge.

"We have an auction, selling off items the kids like, to show them how to supply and demand work to escalate prices," he said.

His educational efforts are not limited to children since Rodriguez also teaches finance courses through Lyons Twp. Adult Education.

At age 32, Alan T. Rodriguez is just warming up.

An investment broker for two years at A.G. Edwards and Sons in Chicago, he was a broker for two years at Hamilton Investments.

For seven years, he taught religion classes at St. Cletus Church in LaGrange and at St. Scholastica in Woodridge. However, just when he got smart, decided to slow down and stop teaching the Sunday school, he got a strange feeling.

"I felt like I wasn't doing enough for my community. I felt I had to give something back, so I started coaching," Rodriguez said.

Being head basketball coach as St.

Cletus wasn't enough, he also had to take on the job of assistant coach of the school's football team. He is now an assistant coach for eighth grade and won the LTHS tournament.

"With teaching Sunday school, I felt I taught the kids morals. It's a little different with sports. Teaching them to try to achieve and enjoy winning makes kids feel like they're doing something. It's very important."

Rodriguez provides advice not just to his clients, but also to listeners of radio station WKRS, 1220-AM in Lake County. Rodriguez gives a live, two-minute stock market wrap-up and business report for the station twice a day, Monday through Friday. He also hosts a monthly 45-minute call-in show during which he answers investment questions. "I want to help people meet their financial goals," says Rodriguez.

"There are so many choices out there," he observes, options ranging from stocks and bonds to mutual funds, municipal bonds and annuities, it can be tough to decide the best way to utilize your assets. By reviewing each individual's each individual's situation, we can customize an investment strategy that fits."

For example, Rodriguez explains, "Investors looking for companies with high dividend payouts should look for companies that have raised their dividends continuously over the past five or 10 years."

Who knows what's next for "Al T." as he sometimes calls himself? Rodriguez even makes house calls! To arrange an appointment, call 1(800)888-4299.

Wild Bird Center offers community valuable resource

A Wild Bird Center customer recently noticed a bird outside his window, but didn't know what it was. And there was another mystery, why did the bird ignore the seed mix he just bought? Somewhere across town a backyard enthusiast pondered her empty birdhouse, and wondered how she could attract a tenant this spring.

Our customers belong to a growing number of Americans who enjoy backyard birdwatching. In fact, feeding and watching birds is the second most popular hobby in the country. (Gardening is first). The reasons are obvious, birds are everywhere. Their songs and colors are among the simplest joys of nature. Getting to know the birds and their habits is relaxing and brings us closer to the natural world. Best of all, our backyards are a great place to do it.

The Wild Bird Center is the place to find answers to your bird questions, and much more. Walk into the store, and you'll be treated to a sample of what backyard birding offers you. Gently flowing water, the melodious sounds of birds, and the subtle smell of cedar and sunflower calm your senses. Then you begin to explore, and be sure to allow plenty of time.

The Wild Bird Center offers the area's largest selection of feeders, seed, houses, baths, optics, and books for birdwatching. More importantly, we have the knowledge to help you sort it all out. For example, offering niger seed to Goldfinches requires a special type of feeder with tiny openings. Goldfinches lose their bright yellow plumage in the winter, but they remain in many areas throughout the year, so don't take those niger feeders down.

Some people are surprised to learn that a seed mix isn't always the best option to attract the birds you want in your yard. You often get better results with a certain type of seed offered where the birds who like it are most likely to feed. Millet, for example, is best offered on the ground where it is popular with ground feeders such as chipping or tree sparrows, juncos, and doves.

For a better view of the beautiful birds in the Lake County area, the Wild Bird Center offers a choice of the finest binoculars and spotting scopes with the technical expertise to help you find the best match. You'll also find an extensive selection of field guides and books on favorite species such as hummingbirds or bluebirds. Audio tapes and CDs can help train your ears to recognize bird songs.

The Wild Bird Center is more than a store. It is also a valuable community resource. The center features regularly scheduled free birdwalks, and offers special programs for kids, garden clubs, seniors and other organizations. The programs include topics like feeder placement, birdhouse building, and bird-friendly landscaping. For more information, call Wild Bird Center at (847) 549-9990.

performance and quality, has always been the main brand sold at Schmidt's, in farm machinery, lawn and grounds care equipment for both the homeowner and commercial user, and light industrial equipment. John Deere's line has tractors to fit all needs from small lawns to large estates to landscaping work and farming. Schmidt also carries John Deere and Gehl skid loaders, Echo outdoor power equipment, Land Pride tractor attachments, used equipment, and other specialized lines.

In 1923, Frank Schmidt moved from a farm into Salem and bought a farm equipment business that operated in an old livery stable barn (horses were a common trade-in in those days). His son Al Schmidt took over the business in 1935 and led the company into years of growth and a new building in the 1960's. By the time Al's son Bob replaced him in 1970, the company was changing with the community and was selling John Deere lawn and garden tractors. Currently Bob and his son Dave, the fourth generation of the family in the business, serve a customer base that is half non-farm. Schmidt's has grown to be one of the largest John Deere lawn equipment dealers in the state.

Schmidt Implement has always strived to provide the best customer service to all they do business with. Whether you need a new spark plug or to invest in large equipment, the friendly people at Schmidt Implement will take the time to make sure your needs are met. A large inventory is available for you to test drive something before you buy. Equipment is sold assembled and ready to use with delivery service available.

Financing is available on site not only for new and used equipment but for parts and repair service as well. So for all your equipment needs, you can rely on Schmidt Implement, family owned and operated since 1923.

Tool rules to keep in mind for spring fix-up jobs

Before the first robin returns, homeowners are thinking about the jobs that await them after a hard winter. Before starting your spring fix-up projects, take time to make sure your tools are in top working order and are right for the job.

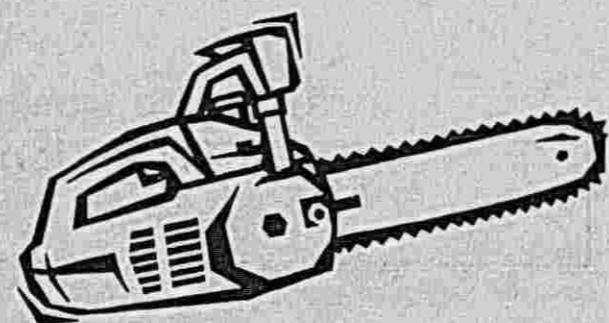

Any tool, no matter how durable, can fail if it is misused, whether it's used for gutter and shingle repair, installation of storm windows, or getting equipment ready for the lawn and garden.

Metal-to-metal contact under pressure, combined with a striking or twisting motion, can result in broken metal fragments that can cause injury. In the interest of do-it-yourselfer safety, these general safety rules should be studied before starting any spring projects:

- Follow the manufacturer's instruction on the package.
- Wear safety goggles when using hand tools.
- Keep all tools clean, dry and in working order.
- Use the tool only for the job it was meant to do.
- Buy several versions or sizes of the same tool or ensure the right tool for the job.

- Throw away damaged for abused tools promptly.
- Be sure tools and work are compatible.
- Be sure handles are fixed firmly into a tool's working end.
- Confining impact forces to striking and struck tools.
- Shut off current before using a tool near electricity.
- Hold work in a clamp or vise, not in your hand.
- Never use a vise or clamp for lifting, pulling or transporting.
- Pull instead of push a wrench handle for safer leverage.
- Keep jaw teeth, cutter and blades sharp for better results.
- Use steady pressure on jaws and cutters; don't rock the tool. Keep a tool's moving parts properly cleaned and tightened.
- A sharp cutting tool is less dangerous than a dull one.
- Use pads in the jaws to protect soft or crushable work.
- Keep tools from excessive heat.
- For continuous work, use comfort grips or gloves.

Enjoy living in a picturesque community at Painted Lakes in Lake Villa

Four single-family homes are available for early delivery at Painted Lakes, a community highlighted by more than 66-acres of wetlands preserve and natural open space in Lake Villa.

Bordered on one side by the Sun Lake Forest Preserve, Painted Lakes is a 165-acre community which will include 218 single-family homes in two series as well as 134 townhomes when complete. Four professionally decorated single-family models are now open and the community is currently 20 percent sold.

Buyers may choose from 10 home designs in two distinctive series, the Genesis Classic, base-priced from $149,990 to $187,990 and the Genesis Heritage, base-priced from $185,990 to $214,990.

The two-story Essex in the Genesis Classic Series offer 1,930 square feet of living space; four bedrooms; 2 1/2 baths; formal living room and dining room; family room; eat-in kitchen; first-floor den; and attached two-car garage, priced from $175,990. The Essex may also be expanded to 2,250 square feet.

Homes are situated on large homesites, ranging in size from 8,500 to 15,000 square feet. Due to the rolling nature of the land plan, the community is ideal for walk-out and English basements.

Buyers may also view three-dimensional home designs with a new virtual reality computer program at The Townhomes of Painted Lakes. The Fern is a 1,334 square-foot home which features two bedrooms and a loft, 2 1/2 bath; expansive great room with fireplace; formal dining room with access to the patio; spacious kitchen; master bedroom suite with large walk-in closet and private access to a full bath; additional storage; and attached two-car garage, priced from $126,990.

Upon entering the Fern, guests are welcomed by a two-story entry with dramatic views of the graceful staircase with decorative plant shelf. The expansive living room measures 13 3/4 by 14 3/4 feet and features a cozy corner fireplace. Adjoining the living room is the formal dining room, which measures 9 3/4 by 12 feet and offers access to the patio.

Designed to accommodate walk-out and English basements, eight two-story plans are available to buyers. The townhomes are arranged with three to five homes per building.

Residents can enjoy the benefits of living in a picturesque community and still have easy access to nearby shopping, restaurants and regional attractions including the Chain O'Lakes, Gurnee Mills Outlet Mall and Six Flags Great America.

In addition, the highly rated Dist. 34 schools serve the residents of Painted Lakes. A new Metra station opened in Lake Villa in August, 1996, offering access to O'Hare International Airport and downtown Chicago.

Quiet, private living available in townhome on Wooster Lake

The grand opening of five professionally decorated model homes is now being celebrated at Tanneron Bay, a townhome community on the shores of Wooster Lake in Ingleside.

Tanneron Bay will include 86 townhomes on a scenic 26-acre lakefront parcel of land with views of the 100-acre lake. Prices range from $124,990 to $147,490, and walk-out basements are available, ranging from $13,450 to $17,450.

Being developed by Four Oaks Development Corp., Tanneron Bay features the same award-winning designs that sold out in just nine months at Library Hill in Wauconda. The same homes are also being offered at Rainier Woods in Fox Lake.

According to Marcia Redlinger, sales and marketing manager, special incentives are being offered as part of the introduction of the new models.

Visitors to Tanneron Bay during our grand opening phase can walk through five beautiful homes, and if they decide to buy, they can take advantage of affordable introductory pricing and free central air conditioning," said Redlinger. "In addition, those buyers who have dreamed of living in lakefront homes can choose among select locations which overlook beautiful Wooster Lake. Lakefront sites quiet, private Wooster Lake is used for sailing, fishing and paddle boats so it offers a serene environment for the homes. A boat launch and a park with a walking path along the lake are a setting of exceptional natural beauty.

The five model homes, with interior design by the Concept Group of Northbrook, feature exciting, open architecture with vaulted ceilings, dramatic window expanses and convenient traffic patterns. Six floor plans are offered, ranging from 1,330 to 1,756 square feet with two or three bedrooms; 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 baths; and attached one- or two-car attached garages. Exterior maintenance is handled by an association.

"These homes are ideal for professional singles and couples, first-time home buyers and those whose children are grown," said Redlinger. "With walk-out basements, buyers can add approximately 600 feet of living space, so the floor plans are very flexible."

The sales center and new model homes at Tanneron Bay are located on Rte. 134, one mile east or Rte.

12/59. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week and evenings by appointment. Call (847)740-4700 for more information.
